The Story of the Year in the Mission Fields

FOREWORD

In the following reports from the Mission Fields will be found much valuable material for use in churches and missionary societies during the year. Program suggestions will shortly be issued to the societies, based upon these reports.

So urgent is the call from the missionaries for the intercessory prayers of the people at home that we have picked out in italics these special appeals.—Ed.

AMOY

Amoy Girls' School—The year 1920 will long be remembered in the Amoy Girls' School as the Year of Jubilee,—in which the fiftieth anniversary of the founding of the school was celebrated. The commemoration exercises were held in August, when there was room enough in the school to accommodate all the guests, and the programme covered a period of three whole days, during which missionaries, Chinese teachers and pupils worked with a will and were rewarded by the appearance of a goodly number of old pupils. The buildings were beautifully decorated both inside and out, exhibits of work of various kinds done by the pupils were held and many meetings of both a secular and a spiritual character filled the busy hours to overflowing and roused a deep interest in the old pupils of the school, many of whom were grandmothers whose memories took them back almost to the beginning of the institution. Religious and historical addresses, prayer-meetings and stereopticon exhibitions, receptions and afternoon teas, folk dances and maypole drills, songs of remembrance and reminiscences of those who had founded the school and worked for it faithfully through long years filled in the days and left indelible impressions on the minds of those who were privileged to take part in the reunion. One of the most remarkable features of the Jubilee celebration was the gift by the former pupils and "a few interested friends" of $2,400 Mexican for two new class rooms, which have been used this fall with very great advantage to the work of the school.

The next step in the progress of the institution to which all are looking forward is the development of a Middle School, two classes of which are already in existence and a third class is to be added this autumn. More money and teachers are needed, however, before a first-class Middle School can be established and the co-operation of home friends is earnestly requested that the much needed school may be placed on a firm foundation. Miss Duryee, the manager of the school, concludes her account of the year's work with these words:

"Oh, friends in the home land, to whom God has given so much, will you not each one say to herself 'What shall I render unto the Lord for all His benefits towards me?' and pray more and give more for these children and girls whom our Lord died to save?"

Charlotte Duryee Bible School—This Bible School for older women has had ninety women on its rolls for a longer or shorter period during the past year and when one reflects that this means that these women have all heard of the way of salvation through Jesus Christ one feels like returning thanks to God with a full heart for the wonderful privilege of being permitted a share in this work. Many of them had never even heard of Christ; others knew of Him only by name. Learning the primer was at first very difficult, but after awhile they became so interested that they would even study outside of study hours. Bible study takes up most of the morning hours and great stress is laid upon the instruction in Gospel truth. The women learn to read quite well in even one term of four months and their improvement is so rapid that they can tell many of the New Testament stories at the end of the term. At first they find prayer almost impossible, but after a time they are willing to have some of the Christian women teach them how to pray and they seem to wish to learn to pray for themselves, often meeting together at noon in different places for the purpose of prayer. Many interesting cases of transformed lives occur in the school, the history of which would be too long for this report. One woman, for instance, was cured of the opium habit by being sent to the hospital. One who contracted bubonic plague while visiting in her home died repeating Bible verses in her delirium. Of another it was testified that her entire character and disposition had been changed in the school. Three pupils were nearly sixty years of age, but they were very intent upon learning to read and their earnest endeavors proved a great inspiration and incentive to others. Seven women were received into the church from the school and others, it is felt, belong truly to the number of those who are "chosen" of the Lord. Two-thirds of the year's expenses have been paid by the fees of the pupils, leaving about $400 Mexican to be paid by the Woman's Board of Foreign Missions. Miss Kitty Talmage, who gives devoted service to the women of this school, asks the earnest prayers of the women in the church at home for all those who pass through its doors.

The Children's Home—During the past year twenty-three children have enjoyed the protection of the Home. In March they were moved from one of the school dormitories, where they had been housed for nearly three years, to their own new home, a building next to the Girls' School, which had been rented to the former owner as an accommodation to him and his family. At the same time the rent, $70 Mexican per month, has been a great help toward paying the expenses of the Home in these times of war and of bad exchange. The children are delighted with their new quarters. As the house is much larger than they at present need, some of the lower floor rooms are used for the overcrowded Girls' School. All of the Home children attend the school and out of school hours they do the work of the Home, such as cooking, washing clothes, sewing and general housework, besides plenty of playing as well. Miss M. E. Talmage writes:

"We heartily thank all those who by their gifts and prayers are making the work of this Children's Home possible."

CHIANG-CHIU

Chiang-chiu Girls' School—The past year has been a "banner year" in the Girls' School with an enrollment of 150 pupils, nearly two-thirds of whom have been day pupils, a fortunate thing considering that they had to be accommodated in a building which was intended to house only seventy or at the most eighty pupils. The comparatively small number of boarding scholars is due partly to the fact that very little of what is called "women's work" has been done in Chiang-chiu during the last year or two because of the scarcity of workers in that field and also partly because the boon of education for girls does not as yet appeal sufficiently to the parents in Chiang-chiu to make them willing to pay the school fees. The difficulty about classrooms has been obviated to some extent by the generosity of the Chinese Church in allowing the school to use a large room in their kindergarten building as an annex to the school. Here the two lowest classes have been taught and although the arrangement has not been ideal, it has been a great help to have the use of the room. Miss Morrison writes of her gratitude that their "good friend, the Woman's Board of Foreign Missions" has come to the rescue with the funds with which to enlarge the school building. She says:

"It is with grateful hearts that we record our thankfulness for this generous gift and it is a great joy to know we are soon to have a sufficiently large and comfortable school."

Six girls from the higher grade are to be graduated this June and it is expected that three of them will be used in the school afterwards as teachers. The new principal of the school is an old pupil and she has had an excellent influence over both pupils and teachers, giving on one occasion an address on the "Importance of Education for Girls" which won high praise from even the young men of the city! In spite of "hard times" the school fee was raised one dollar a term and a fee of two dollars was charged for music lessons given by Mrs. Veenschoten, fees which in every case were "paid with remonstrance."

City Work—Miss Morrison writes that during the past year the streets in many parts of the city have been torn up, houses and shops have been torn down and rebuilt, streets have been widened and a generally disturbed condition has been induced which has interfered with the attendance at church and prayer-meeting. But considering all these circumstances the men and women hearers have been very faithful in coming for the weekly instruction in Bible and Hymn Book and the Romanized primer, besides which they have had lessons in a simply written Life of Christ, the teaching being done principally by the girls in the Christian Endeavor Society of the Girls' School. For the more advanced women a Bible Class has been conducted by the Bible Woman. Five women and six schoolgirls were received into the church last May on confession of faith and twenty babies, the children of former schoolgirls, were baptized. One old woman nearly eighty years of age who was recently received into the church is astonishingly faithful in her attendance at church and in witnessing for Christ on all occasions. As she goes about selling trifles to earn her daily living, she carries a hymn-book in her basket with her wares and as she plies her trade she reads hymns to the women and invites them to come to church. Two public meetings for non-Christian women and new hearers have been held, the church being crowded each time. At one of these meetings the girls of the Christian Endeavor Society gave a presentation of Pilgrim going to the Beautiful City, which greatly interested and pleased the audience. Miss Morrison plans to have a succession of meetings with talks on Christian teaching, hygiene and the value of education for girls. Would that some gifted young woman in the church at home would feel the call to go to Miss Morrison's assistance in this great work in this great city. Think for a moment what it must mean to be the only worker among women and girls in a large city like Chiang-chiu.

Chiang-chiu Kindergarten—There were fifty children in the kindergarten the first term and thirty-seven the second term, the decreased attendance being largely due to the torn up condition of the streets already referred to. Two so-called kindergartens were opened by the Government, also, in emulation of the Mission kindergarten and ten or more children were promoted to the higher school. In January an entertainment was given by the kindergarten children in the church, when the audience was so large as to crowd the building. Among the guests present were several of the highest city officials, who after the exercises came into the mission bungalow to sit and drink tea and who expressed great pleasure in seeing the motion songs, musical drills, marches and other features of the entertainment. The kindergarten teacher for the year was loaned by the English Presbyterian Mission. A graduate of the Girls' School who has completed a course of kindergarten training will succeed her as teacher and the good news that the money for a new kindergarten building is being sent out by the Woman's Foreign Board again calls forth Miss Morrison's hearty thanks. The completion of this much needed building is hoped for in the near future.

TONG-AN

Tong-an Girls' School—Miss Katharine Green, who is in charge of this school, writes that the work has been carried along faithfully by the teachers in spite of the fact that the serious illness of one of them added to the burden of each and all. A new free girls' school was started in Tong-an during the year, taught by two of our Amoy Girls' School graduates and this somewhat diminished the attendance of our Tong-an school. There were 64 pupils during the first term and 45 the second, a decrease in numbers partly due to the fact that pupils who could not pay the fees had to be refused on account of a shortage of school funds. Miss Green says: "We have tried in every way to help ourselves, and our pigs and vegetables have materially assisted us in our expenses!" She also says that the hearts of the girls were made happy by the gifts of pretty and useful things from the Guild boxes whose contents were distributed at the close of school. Six girls graduated, of whom four went to Amoy to continue their studies. In the autumn the girls were much distressed by the tales of the suffering in the famine districts of North China and several hours a week were devoted to the preparation of garments to be sent to Tientsin. It is very touching to think of these Chinese girls, themselves deprived of what we should consider the barest essentials of life, devoting hours of their time and much of their substance in relieving the want of those worse off than themselves.

It is interesting, too, to hear that Miss Green has held weekly meetings with the teachers for the study of the Epistles of Paul and that the ensuing discussions have been greatly enjoyed and have been very helpful in fostering a spirit of co-operation. How Miss Green carries on the school work in Tong-an when she has to be so much of her time in the North River district it is difficult to imagine. It is, as she says, an excellent field and there ought to be and would be an overflowing school if there were only someone who could give all her time to it. At present there is no one in the Mission who can be appointed to this work and so Miss Green is compelled to divide her time and strength between the two fields. Their greatest need is for someone to take up this school work in Tong-an.

Women's School—Miss Edith Boynton is in charge of this school and she writes that they have had from twenty-five to thirty women in the institution this year. The history of the year is colored by many incidents related to the work among grown women and children who have never known any other environment than that of quarreling and suspicion. In spite, however, of discouragements three women have studied to become Bible women and some have become real heart Christians, not merely "lip service" converts. Miss Boynton writes that as she becomes more acquainted with their age-old superstitions, she marvels at the wonderful power of "The Life, the Truth and the Way" that can make them forsake so wholeheartedly their in-grown and in-bred beliefs.

Evangelistic Work—Miss Boynton is in charge of the evangelistic work as well as of the Women's School and she spends much of her time calling and visiting wherever she can gain an entrance into the homes. Naturally the nearby villages and chapels receive the most frequent visits and it is interesting to hear that of the church members whom she reaches she finds the women stronger in numbers and in faithfulness than the men. Remarkable, too, is the fact that these bound-footed women, as most of them still are, will walk long distances to church and meetings. There are four Bible women who give faithful service in spite of physical infirmities. Because of the conservatism of South China it is impossible to have any but elderly women for this work and as they are not strong physically the results are often discouraging. In October a three days' gathering of all the preachers and Bible women of the district was held and far and near they went telling the good news of the Gospel. Three weekly children's meetings have been held with a very good attendance and while the women who lead them need much training themselves in child psychology and in the art of story telling, they yet meet with a wonderful response from the children and are well repaid for their service of love. There is room and a welcome everywhere, Miss Boynton finds, and she longs for more help in her large field.

THE NORTH RIVER DISTRICT

Miss Green says that the girls and women of the North River inquire eagerly when they are to have a missionary of their own and although this year did not bring them that joy, yet they were very grateful for the six weeks that she was able to spend among them. There are four girls' schools in the district, at all except one of which they can accommodate a few boarders, though they are all classed as day schools. The attendance at all of these schools except the one in Leng-na is very seriously affected by the prevalence of bandits in the region. During Miss Green's visit the girls' school in Leng-na was removed from its dingy and unpleasant quarters to a new and shining ancestral hall which has been loaned to the Mission. This gives the school a good start and the added fact that Mrs. Holleman and the wife of Dr. Holleman's assistant, are giving daily instruction is a very great help. This year six or seven North River girls are studying in the Amoy school and they, when they become teachers, are to be the foundation of the Educational Department in the North River.

Miss Green held Bible Study classes for the women in many centres, seeking especially for those who might ultimately be trained as Bible women. In the 23 chapels of the district there are only three Bible women when there ought to be at least twenty.

"All that seems needed," says Miss Green, "to gather in a harvest for the Lord is that the reapers be sent. Pray earnestly that the Lord will send the young women for this work; then send the money for their support; then come yourself and help."

SIO-KHE

Girls' Boarding School—It is cause for great thankfulness both to the Woman's Board of Foreign Missions and to the Mission that the serious illness of Miss Van der Linden, the missionary in charge of this school, is a part of the past. In spite of the many weeks during which she was unable to be with the girls in the school, there was a decided increase in the number on the rolls and in the amount of fees collected. Altogether 90 girls received instruction during the year and this in spite of the fact that the teacher of the new Government Girls' School tried to persuade the Christian girls to come to her school. Miss Zwemer, Mrs. Koeppel and Dr. Bosch all rendered helpful service in the school during the year and good work was done in the teaching, the calisthenics and the drills and in improvement in sanitation and hygiene. Because of the increase in the amount of the fees it was possible to begin some improvement in the school grounds. Several carefully hoarded gifts of money, together with the increased fees, have made it at last feasible to erect the outdoor gymnasium where the girls can drill and play and also hang their clothes to dry on rainy days. Miss Van der Linden writes:

"We often wish that those who give of their gifts and prayers to the school could see and know our faithful teachers and the dear girls who come to study. They look so happy and work so earnestly. The time spent in the Mission school is for most of them the happiest period of their lives and at the end of their term the tear-stained faces prove how sorry they are to separate."

Women's School—Thirty-one women attended the Women's School this year, some of whom were practically heathen when they came but who were either anxious themselves to learn about Christianity or were sent by their Christian relatives. During the first term these women usually lose faith in their idols, unbind their feet and learn to read and pray. If they remain in school for two or three terms many of them become real Christians. Some of those who come are the wives of teachers and preachers. If any of them are found suitable, they are trained to become Bible women. This year the highest class of eight women has studied Acts, Romans, Ephesians, Philippians and a small book on the meaning of salvation besides having instruction in writing and a little arithmetic.

Evangelistic Work—Miss Zwemer, who is in charge of the evangelistic work as well as of the Women's School, writes that hundreds of homes and scores of villages have been visited this year by the missionaries and Bible woman. They always find a warm welcome and the people are ready to listen, though few are willing to forsake their old ways. It takes many visits and much teaching before an impression is made. For the first half of the year large and successful children's meetings were held under the leadership of Mrs. Bosch and Miss Van der Linden. A new feature of the work is the children's service on Sunday mornings held in the hospital chapel. Miss Zwemer says: "If you want to know whether this is appreciated watch the faces of the boys and girls as they march away to the hospital after the early service." The Sunday School is very successful with an attendance of nearly 200. "The happiest Sunday this year," writes Miss Zwemer, "was the day Mr. Voskuil received into the church six of our Sunday School scholars."

* * * * *

We have much for which to thank God and take courage in the reports of the past year's work. The return of Miss Norling to the field in improved health; the recovery from serious illness of Miss Van der Linden; the sustaining power of God in the lives of those who in impaired health have yet been able to remain at their posts; the double and treble work which some have been enabled to perform; the faith and the courage and the endurance of all who under discouragement and with inadequate help have continued to sow the seed and to reap the harvest should inspire us of the church at home not only with the vision of our duty and our opportunity, but with the resolution that in the coming year we will do our part in this great work as never before. When we think of Miss Morrison alone in the big city of Chiang-chiu where she is the only missionary worker for women and girls; when we remember how Miss Katharine Green superintends the Girls' School work in Tong-an and is responsible for all the work for women and children and girls in the large and remote district of the North River, infested by bandits and impassable almost to the traveller; when we consider how Miss Kitty and Miss Molly Talmage have literally given their whole lives to the women and girls of China and must still give them because there is no one to take their places in the schools; when we compare what each and every one of our missionaries is doing for Christ and His Kingdom with what we at home are giving and doing, do we not realize that we are not bearing our part of the burden? Can any one of us feel that we deserve the reward of the "well done, good and faithful servant?" Shall we not pledge ourselves afresh to the task of upholding the hands and strengthening the hearts and supporting the work of our missionaries during the coming year to the utmost?

WOMEN'S OUTLOOK IN INDIA

"India is today one of the most fascinating countries of the Orient and no subject pertaining to it is more fraught with interest than the development of Indian women. . . . In considering any phase of the life and customs of Indian women one must bear in mind the fact that India is a land of contrasts: fabulous wealth, extreme poverty; brilliant minds, dense ignorance; power of the Rajas and utter depression of the lowest classes; wonderful beauty of the mountains and arid desolateness of the deserts; culture and refinement of the educated minority and illiteracy of the masses.

* On furlough, 1921.

† In America.

‡ In Scotland.

"Nowhere is the contrast more striking than that between the new woman of India and her sister, the zenana woman. . . . Until recently the average Indian woman was content to stay behind the purdah but now many are timidly emerging from the silence, seclusion and superstition of purdah into the freedom, liberty and enlightenment of the larger life waiting for them outside." From "The New Woman of India," Foreign Department, Y. W. C. A.

"The problems of women in India are bound to come to the forefront for investigation, experiment and solution. . . . Women are entering very rapidly into the professions, particularly teaching, medicine and nursing. The numbers in the factories are increasing every day. . . . There are probably not less than 200,000 women in industry today. India is threatened with an industrial revolution which in other countries in its initial stages, as in England and Japan, has resulted in the degradation of women." Foreign Department, Y. W. C. A.

"India demands of the church a new program in the realm of trained leadership. . . . The insistent question now is—Who is to educate the leaders of India's new democracy, the Hindus, the Mohammedans, or the Christians? . . . There is a larger preparedness on the part of the Indian people to listen thoughtfully to the Gospel message." Dr. H. D. Griswold.

Industrial—"More than seventy per cent. of India's vast population is engaged in agriculture. Drought and famine are periodic visitations. . . . The farmer's cattle are too light and ill-fed for work. . . . The necessary depth of soil is obtained by frequent superficial plowing. . . . The tools are those of 2,000 years ago. . . . Grain is separated by treading out of oxen, beating out by hand and winnowing by the wind. Despite these drawbacks the country is the largest rice producer in the world. The United States is the only country that produces more cotton than India.

"Industrial India has been set forward 25 years by the war. The out-caste movement has become one of the greatest social movements of the century, promising economic and social emancipation to 50,000,000 people whose lot has been almost as pitiable as that of slaves. . . . In the past ten years the factories have nearly doubled. With these factories which might be the means of truly enriching this land of desperate poverty, the evils of industrialism come crowding. It is estimated nine-tenths of the population are undernourished. Whether the new era of the factory will be more benevolent than the old agricultural era depends largely upon the standards taught by Christian missionaries."

Educational—"Education in India is largely a matter of religion. If you are one of the sixty or seventy million of low-caste or out-caste Hindus your chance for an education dwindles to almost nothing, for you are not allowed in schools. . . . Eighty-nine per cent. of India's men are illiterate and ninety-nine per cent. of the women. . . . Christianity, however, is bringing schools to the depressed classes. More than one Christian woman in eight can read as compared with one out of one hundred among the women of India as a whole. The education of Christian mothers is perhaps the greatest gift of missions to the Orient."

Evangelistic—"India uncaptured for Christ presents an insuperable obstacle to the Kingdom of God in Asia; but India converted to the Gospel will be a reservoir of spirit power for the enrichment of the Western world. . . . Conversion by village as it is now going on in India is a remarkable phenomenon with far-reaching results. . . . The temper of the village changes. . . . They are cleaner, less quarrelsome. All ascend to a kindlier dwelling together."

Medical—"India's wide-spread ill health is not only a merciless waste and a vast sore on its own well-being, but it makes the whole world sag below our Christian standards for the Whole Man. There are no figures to indicate the great proportion who live sickly, unproductive lives. . . . The Christian missionaries have endeavored to build toward better health for the 350,000,000 people of India. There are 185 mission hospitals and 300 foreign missionary doctors; 160 of these doctors are women, whose every deed tends not only to lift the physical misery of the land but to open the windows into a better world for the secluded women of the East."

"A mother of the Ganges
In agony of soul
Looked on the tide, where dark and wide
The sullen waters roll.
To her a god was angry—
She never knew him kind;
But now more dire she felt his ire:
Her youngest babe was blind.

"Another strong and comely,
She bore upon her breast;
A deadly fear had brought her here
To meet a demon's test:
Hour after hour delaying,
And every hour more dread,
She knew no way but one to stay
The sword above her head.

"The river-god was angry,
And she, however loath,
Must cast away one babe today,
Or he would slay them both!
Oh, height of human anguish!
Oh, effort unexpressed
By any name our lips can frame—
She gave her god the best.

"O mothers of the Ganges!
When we to heal your grief
Have sacrificed our wills to Christ,
Your hearts will find relief.
O ye who sit in darkness!
What light will shine abroad
When, East or West, we meet the test
And bring our best to God!"

Women's Work

VELLORE (1854)

Evangelistic—(In charge of Miss Annie E. Hancock and Mrs. Meschack Peter, who reports for the Bible Women.)

The Bible Women—On the death of a faithful worker, Mrs. Grace Nehemiah, Mrs. T. Gnanaselvam was appointed to her place, thus keeping the number of Bible women to 10 and a total number of homes visited 400. Miss Hancock conducts the usual morning dispensary meeting in Schell Hospital. Each Bible woman takes in turn the teaching of the appointed Scripture lesson with the aid of the picture roll. Often Hindu and Mohammedan men stand at the entrance of the hospital and listen with interest. In the afternoon one Bible woman teaches in the hospital wards and each Tuesday Miss Hancock reviews the week's lessons. In Shampackam, a village three miles from Vellore, when pictures were being shown to some women, one of them pointed out Christ and His disciples and told the story of the picture. She said she had been a patient in Schell Hospital and had heard the story there. Twice a month the Bible women visit the near villages to preach and to teach.

In Central Jail—Mrs. S. Cornelius writes of the eagerness with which these poor women learn the Bible stories, texts and songs:

"Three years ago a baby girl was given to us by a dying woman. Miss Durick took care of the baby and is supporting her. The child is happy in the Babies' Home. Another baby born in the jail was given us a few months ago, and he too was admitted into the orphanage. In my visit last week I noticed one woman made a brief and earnest prayer like the publican. Another promised to do so next week. Their faith in prayer is increasing daily. We feel sure some of these women are true Christians."

Women's Social Service Society—The first anniversary of this society was held on September 4 in the new building. The subjects treated are English, Tamil, needlework, health and hygiene. Once a month Red Cross work is done under Mrs. Mullaly. Many baby dresses, towels and bandages have been sent to the hospital. From four to five o'clock daily comes the social hour. Both Christian and Hindu women welcome this recreation time, to which the gramophone and games add much pleasure.

Medical—(Mary Taber Schell Hospital and Union Missionary Medical School for Women in charge of Dr. Ida Scudder.) Dr. Scudder reports as follows:

"The work in the hospital has advanced steadily during the year. The number of operations and maternity cases has been the largest in the history of the institution. The hospital wards were built to accommodate 42 beds but, using the verandahs as well, we have often had 68 in-patients. As Drs. Macphail and Kinnaman left in March, we were glad to welcome the Findlay sisters of the Canadian Baptist Mission in July. During the interval Dr. Anna Degenrung and Dr. Galen F. Scudder came to our assistance in giving necessary lectures. The work in the hospital is much increased by the training of the medical students there. From 9 to 12 o'clock they are in the wards and must be under careful supervision and instruction.

"Drs. Elizabeth and Jessie Findlay have been actively busy in the college dispensary and hospital. Both are carrying too much responsibility but both are enthusiastic and full of plans for our future work. For five months we also had the valued services of Dr. S. Dolmer of the Danish Mission. She not only did most of the routine work of the hospital, but she also gave clinical bedside teaching to the medical students, which has been of great advantage to them. Miss Noordyk has taken charge of the operating and maternity wards and brought up these departments more nearly to standard than was possible before on account of lack of time and assistance. Mrs. J. J. Petrie of Inverness, a trained Pharmacologist and Chemist, has recently been added to our staff and is efficient help. Dr. Mary J. Samuel has done excellent work and now we are anticipating the arrival of Drs. Katharine Scott and Mrs. J. H. Warnshuis. Yet we will still be short-handed until another doctor and nurse can be sent to us. Miss Mann as house mother and Mrs. Samuel as matron find their time fully occupied looking after the students.

"The change of the school year from January to December instead of July to March upsets our work, as it means a lapse of six months between the final examinations and opening of the new class in the Medical School. Already we have lost some highly recommended students because they have felt the six months intervening could not be wasted. The application for next year's incoming students has totaled 146 but we have accepted only 30. We are having great difficulty in housing our students and will rejoice when we can move into the new quarters in July. The ambulance, which is to be ready in a month, will be a boon in our work."

Miss Noordyk writes:

"The time I have spent in Schell Hospital has been a very pleasant experience. I love the atmosphere of the Medical School, which now naturally pervades the hospital. Both students and nurses are interesting in the way they develop.

"The work is too heavy for one American trained nurse. A fully trained nurse to assist Miss Houghton is greatly needed. Knowing I would not be here permanently I have tried to train one of our graduates to take this work when I go to Ranipettai, and the nurse does very well. Every Wednesday morning two medical students and a Bible woman go in groups with a doctor to different neighboring villages to treat the sick and to preach. Miss Dodd kindly furnishes the funds for the juktas to carry these groups to their respective villages. We had a delightful Christmas season, the best I have had in India. A tree for the patients with dolls from the Sewing Guild boxes and the usual exercises in the church and an entertainment by the nurses were among the festivities."

Roadside to Gudiyattam—This work has been reported by Mrs. Cornelius and Mrs. Gnanamel:

"Nurse Annie in Gudiyattam has done splendid work and has nearly doubled the income and number of patients treated this year. These dispensaries have been so successful that we plan to open three more. During the year Dr. Scudder has taken the medical students by turn, who have helped her in minor operations and were taught to treat these poor village people."

CHITTOOR (1854)

Educational—(The Beattie Memorial Training School and Model School have been in charge of Mrs. James A. Beattie, whose resignation has been regretfully accepted. Now they are under the care of Miss Berg and Miss Conklin, who also supervise the Hindu Girls' School.) Mrs. Beattie reports:

Beattie Memorial Training School—"The senior class of students did well in the Government examinations and were graduated in March. Representatives from the two Government Training Schools for men have again visited our institution and have written their appreciation of the condition of the school, especially recommending the hard work of the students."

Model School—"The crowded hostel made necessary the conversion of a small house in the compound into an annex, which added room for 15 little girls. There were 115 in the hostel this year. There was but little sickness, but sore eyes were frequently treated at the verandah dispensary. Including day pupils 135 were taught in this school. Two of the students are Hindu women who have been deserted by their husbands. They are anxious to become teachers so that they can support themselves. Unable to secure a head-mistress Miss Perianayagam and Miss Samuel of the Training School and the staff have assumed extra duties and the work has been carried on successfully. The spiritual side has also been developed by the church services, the prayer meetings, the Sunday School and the daily Bible study. Many of the girls are true Christians. Our first Hindu student went last year to Tanjore to finish her primary training and is standing at the head of her class."

Miss Conklin reports:

Gridley Girls' School—"Gridley School is rejoicing in a staff of Christian teachers, and has continued with growing strength because of the existence of two other schools for Hindu girls and one for Mohammedans. Gridley girls are happy in possessing a melodograph sent by an American Sunday School class."

Evangelistic—(Zenana work and four Bible women in charge of Miss Conklin.) In October an interesting exhibit lasting four days was held under the auspices of the Health and Welfare Association, organized by Lady Willingdon. Dr. Hart came to the exhibit to lecture in the afternoons when it was open to women, at which time it was attended by a large number of Hindu women. Our Bible women and teachers were asked to help, and by explanation of the various charts, posters and models, and by singing lyrics with the victrola, they began or strengthened friendly relations with many homes. A striking feature of the exhibit was the prize baby contest where more than 250 babies were examined.

PALMANER (1859)

Educational—(Hindu Girls' School and a class in weaving in charge of Miss J. C. Scudder.) Miss Scudder reports that the difficulty in securing teachers owing to the opposition of the Local Fund School in the town and the teachers who went there from our school still continues. Anyone offering to help our school is boycotted by the rival school and soon withdraws. Our school consequently is only attended by the poorer caste girls. Justice in time may come, as the president of the Board is enquiring why one school has been broken up to start another.

In the Elementary School as well there has been trouble in securing teachers and the staff has been changed several times. The pupils have done well, however, in both Bible and their secular studies and it is hoped that a number may be sent to the Boarding School next year.

Evangelistic—(In charge of Miss Scudder and her assistant Miss E. Brown.) Miss Scudder writes that owing to the fine work of Pastor Bushan and Rev. E. Tanmani in the town and villages about a dozen adults and children were baptized. The women's meetings and the three Christian Endeavor Societies have been well attended. Miss Brown writes of the conversion of an old Brahmin gentleman. He asked to be allowed to give the Christians a feast after the Sunday service. He writes and speaks English well, lives in a good house and has a Government pension. He welcomed Miss Brown on a visit saying, "Oh, I have something good to tell you. I am a saved man, saved by the blood of the Lord Jesus. My body also is better and now I am able to eat the things I could not touch before." She left a marked New Testament, which he promised to read. Miss Brown asks for prayer that his faith may be established in the truth.

MADANAPALLE (1863)

Educational—(The Boarding School in charge of Miss Sarella TeWinkel and Miss Coburn. Hindu Girls' School in charge of Miss TeWinkel.) Miss Coburn writes that 1920 opened with bright prospects when Miss TeWinkel took charge. Some interesting facts of the year are these—Zipporah Souri, one of the first Telugu girls to complete the course in our Ranipettai High School, is now gaining experience by teaching our fifth class. Siromoni Timothy, another of the girls, after completing training at Vellore, has come to help us train the little ones, and Mercy Jonah, after a year of kindergarten training in Madura, joined us again and her little ones are some of the happiest in the school. All of the teachers with the exception of three are resident and, as such, share in supervising study hour, games and general duties of the hostel. The Third Form, after two years in Ranipettai, was re-opened and it is a comfort to have these older girls as "big sister" to the little ones. Among the 149 pupils, 96 are boarders and 53 day scholars. The latter are divided into Christians and Hindus. The Hindu girls come from the best families in town. One of the our great difficulties is the clothing of our flock. The number of girls is steadily increasing and the coats and skirts decreasing. The school gardens have been a great success and have created friendly rivalry between the classes. When the girls return to their homes they sing their Gospel songs to interested listeners and no one knows how far their influence spreads.

Of the Hindu Girls' School Miss TeWinkel says that the enrollment has been 60 pupils. It has been a discouraging condition, as there is a non-Christian school in Madanapalle with which we have had to compete. Only the poorer children have patronized our school this year. At Vayalpad the Hindu Girls' School of 60 pupils has had a hard time due to the illness of the headmaster.

Evangelistic—(In charge of Miss Sarella TeWinkel, who has supervised the work of five Bible women.) The Bible women are doing regular work in the Hindu homes of Madanapalle, the Mary Lott Lyles Hospital and the nearby villages, while one Bible woman works half time among the illiterate Christians recently gathered into the fold. One woman covers a group of villages three miles distant, while another is at Vayalpad, thirteen miles away.

Medical—(Mary Lott Lyles Hospital in charge of Dr. Hart and Miss Josephine TeWinkel.) Dr. Hart writes that the Mary Lott Lyles Hospital, for the first time in its history, has had the full time of the doctor in charge for the whole year. The coming of the Ford car made possible regular visits to Punganur and the criminal settlement through six months. One visit was made to the extreme north of our district, where there is a nurse who needs supervision. It is a place 30 miles from any medical help.

Our dispensary averages from 120 to 137 daily treatments. Husbands, fathers, and brothers of our patients have been treated. This has given a rare opportunity for witnessing for Christ and it has also added considerably to our income. A large house near us has recently been given as a resting place for relatives of patients who come to the hospital from a distance. The donor is the son of the man from whom Dr. Jacob Chamberlain originally bought the land for the mission compound.

Miss Josephine TeWinkel, in charge of the nurses at the hospital, reports:

"Two more of our nurses have gone to Arabia to help the missionaries there during the past year.* At present we have 7 hospital waifs of whom 3 hail from the criminal settlement. We have the chance to reach the father of one of these, who comes to see the child. Since Dr. Hart moved her office into the apothecary bungalow next door I took possession of what had been her office and laboratory. This gave me the benefit of a light airy room. Our new electric plant has come and we are anticipating its installation. Our hearts have been gladdened by the gift of Dr. Hart's Ford car. The 'Queen Elizabeth' has already been a real blessing in our work. Under the auspices of the Nurses' Association we hope soon to have ready for the press a new textbook for Indian nurses in English, Tamil, Kanarese and Urdu."

RANIPETTAI (1866)

Educational—(Girls' Boarding School in charge of Mrs. Lange and Miss Wyckoff. Hindu Girls' Schools supervised by Mrs. Lange.) At last the Arcot Mission rejoices in a complete Girls' High School. The credit for this belongs to Miss Alice B. Van Doren, who since 1912 has given it her entire thought, time and energy. In the past two years she has been ably assisted by Miss Wyckoff, who has regulated the hostel life and has gradually taken more and more of the academic life of the school under her supervision. On Miss Van Doren's departure for furlough Mrs. Lange became principal but later in the year Miss Ruth Scudder came to help Miss Wyckoff. Mrs. Lange writes:

"Three members of the first senior class (Form VI) are now in the Woman's Christian College at Madras. Plans for the permanent building in Chittoor are before Government awaiting the sanction of grant. The religious tone of the school is healthy. The Y. W. C. A. for the older girls and the Christian Endeavor for the younger ones have a large place in the development of the girls' character. Seven girls were sent as delegates to the Y. W. C. A. conference for high school girls and a large delegation attended the C. E. convention at Vellore."

The Hindu Girls' Schools at Kaveripak, Walajah, Arcot and Ranipettai are all well attended, ranging from 82 to 130 pupils. Mrs. Lange writes that the work has been efficiently carried on by the headmaster and the assistant teachers. The new quarters of the Ranipettai School are a great improvement and can be developed into attractive classrooms and a gathering place for the social center, which will radiate the Gospel of Christ throughout the whole neighborhood.

Evangelistic—(In charge of Mrs. Pandian.) Mrs. Pandian has had entire supervision of the Bible women in Ranipettai during 1920 and is to continue there, helping Mrs. Honegger to build up the social center. The zenana work is not confined to the town but reaches as far as Kaveripak ten miles away. The five Bible women go to surrounding villages once a week, preaching the Gospel to the Hindus. At each center there are girls who know by heart the Bible stories and Christian lyrics.

Industrial—(Lace class in charge of Miss J. C. Scudder.) Miss Scudder writes of the crowded and unhealthy condition of this institution with its 40 boarders. The desire for this self-help is so great that many girls are awaiting their chance to come. The usual lines of work are carried on, including embroidery, crochet, tatting and lace-making. Many orders have been received. Particular attention is paid to the religious life of these girls that they may build up the Christian faith of others when they return to their village homes. A Eurasian matron was appointed this year, an innovation which thus far has worked very well.

PUNGANUR (1908)

Educational and Evangelistic—The Hindu Girls' School has 110 pupils. Two Bible women visit in the homes of Punganur. One goes to the Mohammedans. To do this she had to learn to speak Hindustani. The criminal settlement has been visited regularly every other week. The wife of the manager is a trained nurse so that she has been able to carry on treatment of the sick during the absence of Dr. Hart. The people are worth helping and leading.

They are intelligent, quick-witted and affectionate. They only steal and murder because they have been brought up to do it as the only means of livelihood. If another way is shown them, particularly the younger ones, they will change.

Medical—(Mary Isabel Allen Hospital in charge of Mr. David, L. M. P., medical assistant.) Mr. David reports:

"The dispensary meetings are crowded and are led by the local town catechist. I speak to the patients during and after treatment. We had two baptisms in 1919, and two patients, a father and son, have promised to become Christians. The acquirement of an acre of land behind the hospital will enable us to extend our work. The number of patients has become smaller, the register showing 40 to 50. Dr. Hart who goes to the hospital says it is difficult to know the reason. A new bicycle has just been purchased, which helps to reach the work in the nearby places, as the high cost of jutkas is prohibitive."

"'Lovest thou Me?' It is the Master
Asks this question day by day;
Can we with lips adore Him
While our actions answer 'Nay'?"

"'Lovest thou Me? Then over yonder,
See them on the mountain steep;
Be for Me an under-shepherd,
If you love Me, Feed my sheep'.

"'Lovest thou Me? My lambs are scattered
O'er the plains, wide, wild, and cold;
Is there none will turn them gently
Toward the warm and welcomed fold?"

"'Lovest thou Me? The world's bright dazzle
Lures them to the slippery steep;
If you love Me—heed the message—
Hasten out and Feed my sheep'."

Women's Work

The report of our women's work in Japan should be prefaced by the mention of certain events of wider interest. The first was the visit of the Deputation, which brought cheer, inspiration and a deeper feeling of fellowship to all our missionaries, and carried away a clearer understanding of their problems and achievements. The second was the World Sunday School Convention in Tokyo which was an uplift to all Christian workers, and an impressive proclamation of Christ to the Japanese nation. It came near being a source of mourning for us when Miss Noordhoff, caught in the rush of the great chorus choir from the burning building, was thrown to the floor and narrowly escaped being trampled to death. Fortunately she did escape with little injury beyond the nervous shock. Sorrow came to a wide circle a few days later, when Mrs. Wyckoff, who had taken great interest in the Convention, died suddenly on October 17th. Of her seventy years of life, forty had been spent in Japan as a member of our mission, at first as the gracious wife and able helpmate of Dr. Martin N. Wyckoff, and after his death in 1911, as one of our faithful and honored missionaries. Her last years were devoted especially to work with children and their mothers, and her interest in the numerous Sunday Schools which she gathered and conducted was deep and unceasing. To her was verified the promise, "They shall still bring forth fruit in old age"; and of her it can fitly be said, "The memory of the righteous is blessed."

YOKOHAMA

Another event of wide interest and much significance was the Jubilee with which Ferris Seminary, the oldest girls' school in Japan, celebrated the fiftieth anniversary of its founding. This marked an epoch in the career of the school, and was of significance for the history of woman's education in Japan. The celebration was held on October 28th and 29th. The weather was most favorable, the attendance of alumnae and friends was large, there were many distinguished guests, and addresses and messages of congratulation were received from the mayor of Yokohama, the governor of Kanagawa Ken, the Minister of Education, the Consul-General and others. An interesting feature was the presence and the brief address of Mr. Oye Taku, who fifty years ago had with remarkable sympathy and generosity aided Miss Kidder in her difficult task of opening the school; also, the presence of the young missionary, Miss Sara Ferris, a great-granddaughter of Dr. Isaac Ferris whose name the school bears. Throughout the exercises there was constant recognition of the prominent part Ferris Seminary has played, not only in developing the Christian education of Japanese women, but also in maintaining friendly relations between Japan and America. The following day, October 30th, being the thirtieth anniversary of the promulgation of the Imperial Rescript on Education, Dr. Booth and Miss Moulton were summoned to the Kensho (the state house) to participate in a celebration commemorative of that event. One hundred and seventeen Japanese teachers and three foreign teachers, who had taught in the prefecture for thirty years or more, were present and in recognition of their thirty years of service were presented with a testimonial and a lacquer wine cup. The testimonial was a beautiful scroll, written in Japanese and bearing the imperial crest in gold, on which was the text of the Imperial Rescript on Education, a document the Japanese people regard with peculiar veneration, considering it to be the statement par excellence of their duties as subjects and citizens.

The report of Ferris Seminary for 1920 is full of encouragement. Dr. Booth says: One hundred and fifty students have been enrolled during the year, and more than twenty were placed on the waiting list. In spite of the fact that from the first of April the fees have been advanced thirty-three per cent., the enrollment of students has been unprecedented. Music and the new business course are special attractions; seventy-five pupils are taking instrumental music, fifty-five piano, and twenty organ. Instruments for practice are insufficient, or there would be more taking lessons. Since the opening of the school in April there has been an average attendance of four hundred and eight. Fifty-seven of the total number of students are active Christians. Sixteen have been baptized during the year. The Christians conduct the local branch of the Y. W. C. A., and aid in the upkeep of the seven outside Sunday Schools that are carried on by the school. Through their efforts the one hundred and fifty little boys and girls that met in Van Schaick Hall on the Sunday afternoon before Christmas to hold their Christmas exercises each received a gift, and the joy of both those who received and those who gave was evident in the bright faces of all.

Mrs. Stegeman has been appointed to the Board of Directors in place of Dr. Hoffsommer; and Miss Ai Hoshino in place of Miss Hama Hirano, deceased. The foreign members of the staff remain unchanged. A number of changes have taken place on the Japanese staff. We sincerely regret the loss of Mr. Y. Kimura, who resigned in October without warning to take the position of superintendent of the newly created department of social improvement in the Kobe municipality. We shall need a teacher for domestic science, physical culture and hygiene upon the completion of calisthenium hall. There ought to be two foreign ladies on the field, studying the language in preparation for filling the places that will be vacated in 1922 by the furloughs of Miss Moulton and Miss Janet Oltmans.

Three new classrooms have been furnished with desks, chairs, blackboard, etc. The room for typewriting required by the newly established business department has been furnished with tables and stools and eight new Victor typewriters. The Van Schaick Hall has been thoroughly renovated, its interior painted, its ceiling whited, the electric installation relaid, and the assembly hall supplied with semi-direct electric lights. The Japanese kitchen has been equipped with new stoves, burning sawdust, coal and wood, a Japanese invention said to be very economical in fuel. The old appliance was very primitive, consumed much fuel, and was worn out. It had been in use more than thirty years. The dining-room has been furnished with chairs and tables for seventy-five boarders. Iron gates are in process of construction for the main entrance; the wooden gates have finished their usefulness. The cost of these items has come within the budget for the year.

A gift of $12,000 from a friend in America, in addition to other gifts for the purpose, makes possible the long-needed calisthenium. Plans for it have been prepared and accepted by the building committee, and the contract for it has been let. The building will be of two stories, 66 by 36. The upper floor, which can be entered from the main terrace as if the building were one story, will be devoted to the calisthenium; the lower floor will have bath and locker rooms, a chemistry classroom, a domestic science room, and an alumnae room. The room at present used for physical exercise will be fitted up for sewing classes by putting tatami (Japanese mats) on the floor, and making stationary lockers so that each pupil will have a locker of her own in which to keep her materials. And the present sewing-room, with some additional space, will be fitted up into two additional classrooms, which will supply the thirteen classrooms required in order to handle the classes as at present formed. This will release one of the present classrooms in which the light is poor, which we can use with advantage as a lunchroom for the day pupils who bring their lunches, and as an assembly-room during free periods in bad weather, thus greatly facilitating the maintenance of quiet while the school is in session.

The Y. W. C. A. Conference was held here during the last ten days of July, at which time about two hundred delegates were accommodated. From the re-opening of the school in September after the summer recess, the routine work of the school was much interrupted by the demands made upon the time and strength of members of the upper classes and the Japanese teachers, who were busily engaged in the necessary preparation and practice for participation in the pageant and chorus work of the World Sunday School Convention held in Tokyo. The Ferris Seminary delegation won frequently expressed praise from Mr. Augustine Smith, the conductor, for their faithful and efficient rendering of the parts assigned to them. The opportunity afforded for participation in that wonderfully successful and inspiring demonstration of the world's co-operation in a branch of Christian activity was very greatly appreciated and enjoyed by all who participated.

The annual school picnic was held at Ikegami, a suburb of Tokyo, on November 4th, and was greatly enjoyed by all. The Christmas entertainment was held on December 23d at 6.00 P. M., when the pupils rendered a number of Christmas carols in a manner that did credit to both the pupils and those who had the matter in charge. The pupils filled the main body of Van Schaick Hall to capacity, so that it was possible to invite only the parents of the new pupils, the board of directors, and members of the mission residing in Tokyo. About one hundred and fifty guests were present. The occasion was a delight to both the eye and the ear, as the pupils with bright happy faces and sweet voices rendered the beautiful carols, even the new pupils joining in the choruses, and distinctly enunciating the English words. Truly Christmas has "caught on" in Japan in common with the rest of the world, touching the hearts of all whether they be Christians or non-Christians.

This report would be incomplete without making grateful recognition of the loyal co-operation and faithful endeavors of the members of the staff and the board of directors, in aiding the school to attain its ideals, and in making it more efficient in the great task that it has to perform in the Land of the Rising Sun.

For the privilege of another year's service, the thirty-ninth of the present principal, we are profoundly grateful to Almighty God, whose promise, "Lo, I am with you alway," has been so signally verified during all the years.

SHIMONOSEKI

The annual report of Baiko Jo Gakuin or Sturges Seminary comes from Miss Noordhoff and Miss Pieters. They say:

"We close another year with gratitude to God, the Father, for all His mercy towards us in guiding us in all our ways, and for preserving our lives and those of our teachers and pupils.

"The enrollment of students is about 220. The health of the pupils and teachers has been much better this year than has been the case in years past. We have had no epidemics and no serious illness of any kind.

"Though a large part of the year there seemed to be little spiritual power, and all felt that faith seemed weak and hearts were cold, the end of the year shows that our prayers have been answered and souls have been won for our Lord. On Christmas Sunday, sixteen girls confessed their faith in God and were baptized. During the year four others had done the same and one teacher, making the total number of baptisms 21.

"The work has been conducted in much the same manner as in former years, and the school has the entire sympathy and support and co-operation of the educational authorities of this district. In November, a special holiday occurred—the 30th anniversary of the promulgation of the Educational Rescript by the late Emperor, Meiji. At this time all those who had taught thirty years or more were given a special reward, and Miss Bigelow* of our school was the only lady to receive this especial recognition in this district, she having given thirty-four years of her life to education for women in Japan.

"The Principal has been very active in various educational societies, and more especially in attempting to bring private schools up to the same status in Government opinion as that of the Government schools, thereby giving teachers the same rights as those in Government schools. Teachers having taught a certain number of years are given pensions, but anyone going to a private school to teach loses all such privileges, and hence getting teachers for private schools is a very difficult matter. The Principal's aim has been to bring private schools up to the same basis, so that all teachers will be on the same plane, and whether they teach in Government or in private schools, the years of service will count and the pension will be forthcoming.

"During the year our school has had the usual public gatherings on the occasions of Commencement, Christmas and Founders' Day, as well as other holidays. We were especially favored in having Dr. Chamberlain and Dr. McKenzie with us on Founders' Day, linking up the school with the home base in a very pleasant and effectual way.

"At Commencement time we graduated a class of 27, eleven of whom are now taking courses in higher schools. Upon investigation we find that 27 per cent. of our graduates go to higher schools after graduation, a much higher per cent. than is found in any other schools in this district.

* Baiko-Jo-Gakuin is a union school of the Reformed and Presbyterian Churches. Miss Bigelow and Miss Mackenzie are the missionaries supplied by the Presbyterian Church.

"At Christmas time a varied program was given in the chapel. It has now become a custom to take up an offering at this time, and this year the pupils and teachers together with the guests were happy to be able to give Yen 60 to the famine sufferers in China.

"The Y. W. C. A. has, besides its usual activities, conducted a very successful bazaar. They began plans in the autumn, intending to raise their budget in that way, but the plans grew to such an extent as time went on that the result was a very profitable bazaar at which they cleared about four hundred yen. One hundred of this is to go to the poor of the city, another hundred to the school towards the purchase of land for the new dormitory, and the rest will be used for their budget and other activities in getting helpful speakers for the school.

"The usual musical programs were given during the year, with the commencement recital as usual. We hardly realize what opportunities such occasions give for advertising the school, and how far the influence of such meetings goes. After the bazaar, several such instances were brought to the attention of the school by the Principal. In one instance a friend was so pleased at the sociability and kindness shown to herself and friends that she resolved to go to church and bring her friends with her.

"We have had many speakers who have been helpful, but perhaps Mrs. Jo, who is interested in welfare work among wayward young women, and Mr. Homma, a friend who is doing splendid work among ex-criminals, were among the most helpful and practical. Mr. Hori, a worker from Honolulu, here for the Sunday School Convention, gave a fine talk on International Relations, one that would benefit any school in Japan. We were happy to have a few Sunday School convention guests with us both before and after the convention.

"And because we have such splendid opportunities for gatherings of this kind, which ought to give pleasure to many others besides the members of the school, we are all the more thankful for the two gifts which stand out among our blessings this year—a gift from the Sage estate for a new chapel, and another from a member of the Board for a new dormitory. We hope that as soon as may be expedient these two new buildings may be erected.

"A very pleasing feature of this year's work has been the added interest the Japanese friends have taken in the school, as shown by gifts from time to time. A number of patrons of the school as well as alumnae have expressed their desire to do something for the school, and it seems quite probable that their gifts may be used towards acquiring a small piece of land on which to place the new dormitory. This is still in its very beginning, but their desire to do something in a material way is very encouraging.

"In the spring, after having searched in vain far and near for a place to hold the usual street Sunday School, we decided to try holding a neighborhood Sunday School on the school premises. Letters were sent to all the parents of the neighborhood telling about our plan and aim. The children responded very well indeed; and every Saturday afternoon after school sees several scores of children playing on our hillside or tennis court, or in the gymnasium. Schoolgirls supervise the play and teach these same children with others who come on Sunday for a children's meeting. We have had an attendance of a hundred, but the average is about 65. Five girls do all the teaching and all the playground work. At the Christmas celebration of these children an offering was taken for China and their very first offering amounted to over two Yen. Besides this Sunday School the Y. W. C. A. conducts two others in private homes, and our girls are also helping in Sunday School work in three other churches in this city. Very frequently we are called upon to help in the services of churches in this city and across the straits in the southern island, either in music or in some other capacity. The relations between the churches in the city and the school are of the best, all the Christians seeming to feel a personal interest in every phase of the work of the school.

"We ask the prayers of all friends at home for ourselves and our co-workers in the task we are set to do. There are many difficulties and frequently we feel the need of support in prayer for all the work. It is His work and you are a part of it. Can we rely upon you to help us to carry it on?"

SAGA

It was a disappointment to all concerned that lack of funds thwarted the plan to open kindergarten work in Fukuoka under the charge of Miss Evelyn Oltmans who was eager and specially qualified to undertake it. Let us hope that some generous donor will yet make it possible. Under the circumstances it seemed best to transfer Miss Oltmans to Saga where she could carry on Sunday School work. Miss Hospers, who returned to Japan in January, 1921, will resume her work in this field with Miss Oltmans as her companion and fellow-laborer. Miss Oltmans writes:

"From June, 1919, when Miss Hospers went on furlough till October, 1920, when my location was changed from Fukuoka to Saga, there was no lady missionary worker here in this city. Mrs. Van Bronkhorst with the help of two native Bible women kept up some of the work started by Miss Hospers.

"In June both Bible women left—one to be married to a Christian dentist, the other for health reasons. Consequently, in the fall, the work in Saga had to be taken up by newcomers, unfamiliar to things here. The Japanese girl who is helping me, is a graduate of Baiko Jo Gakuin, and though she has had no special Bible training, is still a good little worker among the Sunday School children and attractive to the middle school girls, for whom we have classes.

"Shortly after we arrived here in the fall, we gave out invitations to the girls of the local girls' schools. Fortunately, we were told beforehand that we might expect about a hundred girls. So we were prepared for the one hundred and fourteen who came. It was a lovely October afternoon; so we spread straw matting on the lawn in the front garden, and entertained our guests there. We brought out our little organ, and taught the girls some hymns and had a short Bible talk. Then we all played games together, and as refreshments we gave each girl a bag of Japanese cakes. We also gave each girl an urgent invitation to attend a hymn singing and Bible talk meeting we would hold from week to week.

"This was the first of the Tuesday classes we hold for these girls. Of course, the number is much smaller than this first gathering; on an average from fifteen to twenty attend regularly. After the hymns and the Bible talk, we teach the girls a hymn in English—which they are so proud of knowing. On Thursdays a group of girls from another local school come also for hymn singing and a Bible lesson.

"Once in two weeks, my helper and I go to Takeo, a city distant an hour's ride by train. Here, at the home of an evangelist, we hold a meeting of the same kind for the girls in the Jo Gakko (girls' school), in this little town. The average number who have been attending has been about thirty.

"A number of our girls have bought hymn books and Bibles—most of them, copies of Mark's Gospel, which we are studying with them. These girls are simple-hearted little lassies, who live in Saga, Takeo, and the neighboring little towns. They seem to enjoy our afternoons together very much. As these girls come to know a little about the Way of Life, we pray that they may truly find Jesus as their Saviour—that they may bravely endure the persecution of relatives and friends, should it come, and that they may be lights shining in the dark places of this land.

"A good many of the Sunday School classes in Saga had to be given up when the workers left. However, the Sunday afternoon class here at our home has continued. About fifty of the children of the neighborhood gather here every Sunday at one-thirty. At Christmas time they gave a happy little program. The children, dressed in their gayest kimonos, sat in rows on the parlor floor, facing a brightly decorated Christmas tree and a table piled high with gifts—little dolls from America for the girls; and for the boys, balls, the delight of every young masculine heart. In the dining room, behind the children, sat the parents and friends. We were gratified to have about forty present. The children went through the program of songs and speeches most beautifully. And each child went home happy, hugging his gift, a bag of cakes, and an orange.

"On Saturday afternoons we hold another Sunday School in the home of one of our Christians. About forty children attend. This school was just opened in September, and for most of the children, is the first experience in Sunday School. If the gusto with which they sing is any criterion of their appreciation, they certainly enjoy it immensely. All of the children love the picture post cards which kind friends in the United States have sent to us.

"When our new helpers arrive we hope to open up more Sunday Schools as there are children—swarms of them—everywhere. And everywhere are opportunities to lead these little ones into the 'Jesus Way.'"

NAGASAKI

Miss Couch reports:

"In general our work has been carried on much the same as last year. To other problems of living was added that of finding a place to live, for we were forced to move and houses are as scarce here as in other parts of the world. The house we finally secured requires much to make it warm and livable for the winter. Its only large and really pleasant room has to serve as study and bedroom for both Miss Tomegawa and myself. And when we hold our women's meetings here this room must be cleared of bed, chairs and tables and used as the meeting place.

"Different causes have combined to make the attendance of our church women's society and our home Bible class less than last year. Two women most faithful at all meetings left Nagasaki in the spring, and while others have come, so far our efforts have not resulted in more than their occasional attendance. Illness, the coming of little ones, the lack of servants, are some of the obstacles. But we have had helpful and happy meetings, and on the whole the spirit shown has been encouraging. Once a week a work-meeting is held in the home of the wife of one of the elders and old newspapers and magazines are cut and pasted into bags to be sold to fruit and vegetable shops. Although usually only three to five women are present, about sixty yen have been earned during the year, thirty yen of which was given to the China famine relief. One enquirer, instructed by Miss Tomegawa, was baptized this autumn, and another expressed a wish to unite with the church before summer, but her doing so has been delayed.

"Calling in the homes of both Christians and non-Christians has, as usual, been a considerable part of Miss Tomegawa's work. Occasionally she starts out in the morning and does not come home until the late afternoon, eating her dinner where the noon hour finds her, if invited, or going without if she is not. She kept up a large part of her work during the summer, but found the heat and strain quite trying, and soon after my return from vacation she left for Tokyo, where she had the opportunity to speak at a large evangelistic meeting for women and the privilege of attending the World's Sunday School Convention. She also on such trips makes an effort to meet as many of our Sturges graduates and former church-members as possible, usually stopping off for this purpose both going and returning. She came back the last of October with renewed health and vigor.

"Miss Hashimoto's resignation threw the entire responsibility of the children's meetings upon me, and my strength, or lack of it, was such that from the autumn I could attempt but two of our three schools. It was a grief to me that at this Christmas season the children of our oldest school could not enjoy the celebration, which had not before been omitted for about fifteen years. The other two schools had very happy times at Christmas. The gift of the Sewing Guild to help us celebrate was much appreciated.

"The Ochibo, our monthly paper, still makes its appearance eleven times each year. The expense of publishing has increased, and twice during the year the treasury has been more than empty. But the Lord has been mindful of our needs and we close the year with a balance of more than one hundred yen. The total expense of sending out eight hundred and fifty copies for eleven months has been three hundred and thirty-nine and a half yen, and of this amount one hundred and five and a half yen have been received in contributions from the Japanese readers.

"Because of lack of time and strength, almost nothing has been done outside of Nagasaki City, but in the autumn one trip was made with Mrs. Ruigh to Shimabara, one of our out-stations, where the little flock, at present unshepherded, is largely composed of women.

"We close the year with hearts full of thanksgiving to God for His many and precious blessings, and with gratitude to our Home Boards and friends for their prayers, their sympathy and their gifts for us and the work. We long to help our friends in America to realize how much this land just now needs prayer and spiritual help. Signs of encouragement are not wanting, but we need to put forth prayerful effort to change the signs into actual fulfillment. May you at home and we here be more than ever closely united in love to and service for Him who died to give life to the world.

FUKUOKA

Miss Lansing writes:

"During the year there have been many changes in the workers. Miss Evelyn Oltmans was here for five months and helped in the work with the girls and the Sunday Schools. Her departure was a great loss to the work. At the beginning of the year we had a graduate of Sturges Seminary to help in the Sunday Schools. She left in February, and another graduate came to take her place. In September this one went with Miss Oltmans to Saga, and Miss Uchida, a graduate of Sturges Seminary and of the Woman's Bible School in Yokohama, came to help in the work here. She is a consecrated girl and seems to be a very efficient worker.

"Our Sunday Schools or children's meetings have not been attended as well as we desire. We ought to have from eighty to one hundred children here every Sunday afternoon, but owing to irregular attendance we do not average half that number. The teachers of the primary school in the neighborhood are opposed to Christianity and have forbidden the children to come. However, there are a few who are regular in attendance. Two of the older boys are now attending church. The small women's meeting connected with the Friday school has kept up all the year. From three to six women attend and seem to be interested. This school, being small, is held at the home of a Christian; so we do not pay any rent. The Tuesday school also is small, but the children attend quite regularly.

"The English and Bible classes for the students have been well attended this year. A number of the students go to church. Our semi-monthly meeting here at home for the people of the neighborhood has been very well attended. The past three months the attendance has been sixteen. Among the number who come there seem to be some honest enquirers. One man, the father of one of our Sunday School boys, is now going to church. In November our pastor, Mr. Kimoto, passed away, and his going was a great loss to the work in general. He always gave a talk at our evening meeting and he was a fine man to work with. Some of the students have asked for baptism.

"It is said that one must not expect to see the results in a new field before three years, as it takes that length of time to make an impression on the minds and hearts of the people. It is now just three years since work was begun in this part of the city, and as we review the work of the past twelve months we find much to encourage us. Our prayer is that in the coming year we may have more workers and health and strength to seize the opportunities as they come to us, and that all we do may be done in His name."

KAGOSHIMA

Since the transfer of Miss Lansing to Fukuoka, this station has been without a representative of the Woman's Board, and the work for women and children has been under the superintendence of the resident missionary. Mrs. Ryder at first and then Mrs. Hoekje have given it much time and care, which we gratefully appreciate. In the coming year Miss Kuyper will be stationed there, and this increase of the working forces in a large and needy field promises much for the growth of the work for the Kingdom of God.

The following report is adapted from the annual report of the resident missionary to the Mission:

"In a year characterized by contraction of the work by reason of limited financial resources and the absence of a resident missionary from May to October, a most gratifying feature of the work has been the faithful and fruitful service of the young Bible woman, Miss Tomi Kokubun. Another Bible woman, who has been associated with her, left the station during the spring, and no successor has as yet been found. One of the weekly Bible schools in a needy neighborhood had to be discontinued early in the year because of inability to secure a suitable meeting place; but almost single-handed she has kept up the remainder of the work in the city for women and children. With one volunteer helper, and occasional assistance from the missionary in charge, she continued the house school on Sunday afternoons, and a neighborhood school on Saturday afternoons. Late in the year requests came for similar service in a third section of the city, and in the neighboring village of Ryugamizu, but these openings it has been impossible thus far to enter. She has also regularly assisted in the Sunday morning school at the church, besides serving as organist at the church services. She has continued to hold services monthly at the factory so long visited by our workers, and among those coming to her for instruction in music and Bible have been workers in another factory, that of the government tobacco monopoly. Two of these girls have been promoted to leadership of groups of workers, being recognized as to be depended upon. Miss Kokubun has also faithfully taught week by week a number of women at their homes, some of whom are applying for baptism. One of them was baptized the third Sunday of January, 1920, at the same time with her husband. The husband openly declares that one of his motives for preparing for baptism was his appreciation of the zeal and the faithfulness of the Bible woman who was teaching his wife. Miss Kokubun also assists the pastor in various weekly meetings for inquirers at the homes of some of the church members; and as a result of these various connections was able to report at the close of the year about a dozen persons in various stages of instruction. Besides, she has remained in touch with a score or more of high school girls, two of whom have attended meetings very regularly. She assumed entire responsibility for the preparation and arrangement for the Christmas exercises of the two Sunday Schools, and for a Christmas program and entertainment for the factory girls, about one hundred of whom came to the house one evening during Christmas week for the celebration. It is a pleasure to recognize the work and devotion of this young worker. With such possibilities evidencing themselves, the station naturally extends a hearty welcome to Miss Kuyper as she assumes charge of this work in the new year."

The Annual Mission Meeting took place in Kodai Kanal, India, during the summer of 1920, and the reports that were then presented do not cover the entire year—but only a part of it.

MASKAT

Educational—Girls' School, with Miss Kellien in charge.

Evangelistic—Miss Lutton in charge of Zenana work.

Medical—Dr. Hosmon in charge of Medical work.

Evangelistic—While Miss Lutton pleads for more prayer, she gives thanks for many evidences of God's presence, and for answered prayer in behalf of one mentioned in her last report, who, because of his mother's threats, had been removed from her influence. Since then the mother's attitude has greatly changed and she is more friendly, even going to bid farewell to Miss

Lutton before she went inland for the summer. The son has renewed his visits to the Mission house, has asked for permission to read the Gospel with Miss Lutton and prays most earnestly for courage, but the "fear of man" is still so great that he is afraid to confess Christ. Another fast-closed door has been reopened and a Moslem woman and her sister have been allowed to spend some whole days with Miss Lutton—a great concession on the part of their husbands! Another woman asked for more instruction, and stood firm in the presence of a bigoted Moslem woman and said, "I am not fasting," when confronted with not keeping the fast in Ramathan. The number of visits and visitors varies little from year to year, and it is impossible to count the numbers of those encountered in the houses of mourning. Miss Lutton closes her report in these words:

"We cannot count our blessings either. I heard one sing: 'Count your blessings ton by ton—that is much nearer the truth than one by one.' God is working in our midst; so we labor on till the Master comes."

Medical—Owing to many delays en route to Arabia, Dr. Hosmon could not take up her work till January, but Mrs. Van Peurseem had done nobly in filling up the gap during Dr. Hosmon's absence on furlough.

The most striking feature of the work has been the interest shown in the morning prayers, when talks have been given on the inspiration of the Bible and other topics. Every Sunday Dr. Hosmon and her Indian nurse have met for prayer and Bible study, and the recent addition of a second nurse from the Mary Lott Lyles Hospital has been a great cause for thankfulness, as has been the gift to Dr. Hosmon of a small motor car, which can run through the narrow streets of Maskat. At the close of her report Dr. Hosmon writes:

"On my return to Arabia, I took for this term of service, the promise from Isaiah 45:2. So this is my window through which I look upon this coming year's work. I thank God that He has answered the many prayers for the opening of this closed province for the Gospel. Just a few weeks ago the Sheikhs of the inland tribes signed the peace treaty with the British. Now we are like all those in New York City who wait at the ferries, when the ferryboats arrive, for the gates to open and the signal to be given for them to go aboard! My nurses are preparing the medicines for a tour, because we are expecting the 'signal' at any time!"

BASRA

Educational—Girls' School, superintended by Mrs. Thoms aided by Mrs. Barny.

Evangelistic—Evangelistic work under Mrs. James Cantine and two faithful Bible women, Saidi Dosha and Saidi Hanna. (Mrs. Cantine went to Bagdad with her husband, December 26, 1920, to open up work there, and now Mrs. Van Ess is in charge of evangelistic work in Basra.)

Medical—Hospital still closed and no doctors!

Educational—The Basra Girls' School is made up of many nationalities, such as: Arabs, Turks, Persians, Armenians, Syrians, Chaldeans and Jews and while about a third of the girls are nominally Christians, a few are Jews, and the remainder Moslems. But in spite of these differences in race and religion, the most friendly feeling exists among the girls, leading one to the belief that a large number of mission schools throughout Moslem countries would do much to settle the Armenian-Mohammedan problem! The Armenians are in the majority in the higher classes of the school, since Moslem girls marry early and are not often allowed on the streets. One hundred names appeared on the roll during the year, but the average attendance was only forty-nine, since many were kept away on account of extreme heat for part of the school year, the winter rains, the date packing and the ever-present fevers and eye diseases. However, most of the girls come whenever they can, and some have remained from each class since the school was started eight years ago. This results in a large number of classes and the need for a greater number of teachers for Arabic work. All the pupils receive a daily Bible lesson, and they are most responsive to a certain extent but then seem to come up against a stone wall—that of absolute confidence that Islam is the true religion, at least for them!

The departure of the Misses Jackson after many months of voluntary service was, and continues to be, a great grief to all the girls, who constantly speak of them and long for their return, as do all the missionaries who have learned to know them.* Mrs. Barny has taken charge of the music in the school since her arrival in February, and the girls who are learning to play the piano are very happy to have that opportunity. During the coming year Mrs. Thoms hopes to open another school in Ashar, which is a rapidly growing port of Basra, where there is not only a great need for a girls' school but a real demand for one on the part of the parents of Moslem children. "God grant that it means the promise of better things in the lives of the girls, who have had so little to interest them or give them cause for real happiness!"

Evangelistic—Mrs. Cantine's time has been divided between making visits and receiving them, and she has spent many mornings in the Mejlis (sitting-room) reading and talking with the women, and often prescribing for some simple ailments. The women miss the hospital greatly, and nothing would make our missionaries happier than to hear of a consecrated woman doctor, coming to minister to these neglected women and children, some of whom have learned to know and love Christ, but fear that persecution and death would follow open confession. Mrs. Cantine has also had a class with some Moslem women who attend the Sunday morning service quite regularly, and she takes up with them one of the thoughts of the sermon and explains it more in detail and with much repetition, for their thoughts are so absolutely "of the earth, earthy" that spiritual things are difficult to grasp. One woman who confessed openly that she was a Christian was threatened with all sorts of terrible things, and one day some forty women went to her and said that unless she recanted they would burn down her house with all of her family in it. She remained firm for a long time, but latterly she has shown signs of weakening with the continued persecutions. Another woman, a poor blind widow, professes to believe in Christ as her Saviour and is making steady progress under the instruction of Saidi Hanna. The two Bible Readers are doing fine work and report many encouraging incidents and conversations. The women who can read like to get the stories and leaflets published by the Nile Mission Press, and occasionally one will ask for a special leaflet that someone else has told her about. Mrs. Cantine writes:

"I wish that, with this report, you might also be given a true picture of the lives these Moslem women lead, of their environment from childhood up to old age. They see more of hardness, cruelty, oppression, neglect, revilings, curses, beatings, and things vile and degrading than one would imagine could exist. They need your most earnest prayers for their salvation. And we who work among them also need your prayers. We are but a small band of Christian women, and the task is very great. Will you not pray that many more may come out and help to bring the light and love of Christ into these darkened and oppressed lives?"

No report has been received from this station.

KUWEIT

Educational—Girls' School started by Mrs. Mylrea.

Evangelistic—Under Mrs. Mylrea's charge.

Medical—Under Mrs. E. E. Calverley, M.D., ably assisted by Miss Scardefield.

Evangelistic—The work among the women this year has had its bright and dark sides as in other years. There have been women eager and anxious to hear the story of salvation, but the majority are still quite satisfied with their own crooked and perverse way of living. One woman whose sister can read and who got portions of the Gospel from the hospital, told Mrs. Mylrea not long ago that they were still reading it. She said that the missionaries had "caught" a great many hearts among the women through the different departments of work for them—the dispensary, the visiting and Sunday services. It was encouraging, for if they are stopping to think and compare the Christian's way with theirs, it shows that God is working.

Last February a very good white donkey, whose name is Mestura, was purchased and has been a great joy in making it possible to do more visiting and especially to go more often to the other end of the town. The number of visits made during the year was 186 and 27 new houses have been opened. This means that there were 33 more visits made this year than last and 8 more new houses entered. The friendship continues and if the days were longer many more visits could be made.

There have been 521 callers at the house, women and children, old friends and new.

Educational—A small school was started in February, consisting of four little girls—three sisters, Moslems, and a little Bagdad Christian girl. School was held every weekday morning except Friday for four months. Mrs. Mylrea hoped to open it again in the autumn but was not at all sure that she could get the children. The father and mother were more than willing and were pleased at the progress made, and there was nothing that was not retold at home, but the big brothers of these girls made a great deal of trouble. They said the oldest girl was too old to go out on the street, to which the mother replied: "She is not too old when you want her to go to buy you sugar, tea or tobacco!" But of course the most important reason which they gave was that the girls were going to a "Kafir" to be taught and afterwards no man would want to marry them! Mrs. Mylrea tried to get other little girls, and several mothers said that when their girls finished at the Koran school she could have them, but that remains to be seen, for when a girl has finished the Koran school, it is time to keep her in. Mrs. Mylrea thinks that Kuwait is not ready for a girls' school, (that is, that a missionary should not be appointed there for that purpose only), but that the one who has the evangelistic work should try to get together the beginnings of a school even if it takes several years. Several women have met with Mrs. Mylrea once a week for Bible study and prayer, and she has been teaching them from St. John's Gospel, and while they have not reached the point of praying for themselves, they bring their petitions that others may pray for them.

The Sunday afternoon service for Moslems still attracts. The attendance of women and girls this year is 731. Mrs. Mylrea adds:

"The year's work on the whole is encouraging and I believe as the seed is being sown and watered, that God is working and some day we will be surprised to see many little blades of faith here and there all over the city."

Medical—One real advance stands out in bold relief. On the 26th of February the woman's medical department moved into its new quarters. The Woman's Hospital was not entirely completed, but it was usable, and both the men's and the women's work were sorely in need of more space. It will be remembered by those acquainted with the conditions in Kuwait that when the station was opened, nine years ago, a native house was rented which served as a hospital for both men and women. This structure, with its crumbling mud walls, was far from being a suitable building, and it was with great thankfulness that, three years later, both men's and women's medical work was transferred to a new and splendidly constructed hospital. This hospital, however, was small, and only two rooms could be devoted to the woman's department. In-patients had to be accommodated in the doctor's office, on the verandah, or in the dressing room, and naturally, only a very limited number of women were able to stay in the hospital for either medical treatment or surgery. This explains why they did not wait for the new Woman's Hospital to be completed before starting to use it.

Much pleasure was experienced by the Arab women as they realized the privileges of a separate hospital, where they could feel perfectly free to unveil without any fear of being seen by men patients. Their joy was even exceeded by that of the missionary workers as they reveled in the spaciousness and convenience of the new premises. There are now a doctor's office, dressing room, operating room, private ward and public ward. The nurse's residence has been started and should be finished early next year. More than ever are the missionaries grateful to God for His merices and to those who, for His sake, made the new hospital possible.

There had been some doubt in the minds of many whether young women of the respectable and prosperous class in Kuwait would be allowed to come as in-patients to any hospital, even though it were for women alone. In the rooms occupied before in the men's hospital, a few elderly women and poor women had been accommodated, but young and well-to-do patients insisted upon remaining in their own homes even for operations. Among those who came to the new hospital was a rich young Shi'a woman, who brought her own servant and remained as an in-patient for two weeks. She said that she had been trying for over a year to persuade her husband to let her come for the operation she needed but that he had not yielded to her request until he saw and approved the new building. This woman thoroughly enjoyed her convalescence in the hospital and was visited by scores of curious friends, most of whom marvelled at her courage in daring to trust her life and reputation in such a way!

The addition of a donkey to the hospital staff has been a great help in the many out-calls, but "beyond expression" has been the help of the new Indian nurse, educated at Madanapalle by Dr. Hart and Miss TeWinkel, "who has been brave enough to leave home and country for missionary work in Arabia."

It has been a pleasure during the last year to witness the growing friendliness of the women. Every day has shown the beginning of new friendships. There are still many in the town who fear and despise the missionaries because they believe they are infidels and have come to draw Moslem believers away from the true faith. Each year sees some of these women won to trust and friendship, and gradually but surely the work is gaining a deeper and a stronger hold among the people. In all the years at Kuwait, no backward steps have been taken, but, little by little, God has granted a steady and heartening advance.

The women missionaries of the station have continued to conduct the daily dispensary Gospel meetings as in former years. The Arab women are interested and curious. They seldom need to be urged to stay for the service and some come purposely to hear the "story." Some have said privately that they know that the Gospel is true, and the lives of many have been brightened and made more worth living.

The co-operation of Miss Scardefield in the work has been a great blessing. After moving to the new hospital she spent most of her evenings with the in-patients. This much delighted them and their friends, and it furnished many an opportunity for personal work under most favorable circumstances. Mrs. Mylrea also had many personal talks with the in-patients, and, as ever, has shown the utmost willingness to help in every part of the work. To her and to Miss Scardefield and to Dr. Mylrea heart-felt gratitude is due for their most generous and sympathetic co-operation.

Mrs. Calverley closes her report in these words:

"The new year bids fair to bring us the greatest opportunities and the greatest responsibilities we have ever known. After March there will be no other doctor in the station. We should not dare to enter upon such a task, were it not for the assurance of the intercession of those who, with us, are longing and praying for the coming of Christ's Kingdom in Arabia. We shall need greater consecration, greater wisdom and skill and more physical strength for the task before us. May we depend upon you for your prayers?"

AMARA

Evangelistic—(Mrs. Henry M. Bilkert in charge.) The work in Amara has been opened so recently that this is the first annual report from that station, and is therefore given in full, though the other reports had to be much curtailed. Mrs. Bilkert writes:

"As a result of the war, Mesopotamia became more open than ever before to missionary enterprise. This year the Arabian Mission felt an urgent call to begin permanent work for women. Having been here in Amara only six months there is still much to learn, yet in so short a time some very encouraging things have been met with.

"The women of Amara are exceedingly friendly. Never having been used to one who came as an open 'unbeliever,' I expected a certain amount of coldness on the part of some. I have yet to find that, however. There could not be shown greater kindness and hospitality than has been shown me here, both by the rich and the poor. The first house I went to was that of a Turkish family. A rich religious woman was giving a Reading in her courtyard and I went with the black woman who works for me. From that day there have been more than many invitations to visit in the homes here. Arab hospitality is something very unique. In a perfectly free and easy manner we all sit together on silk cushions or a common dirty mat in the shade of a mud wall, and in such simplicity there comes a real friendly fellowship. The doors of Amara are surely open. Very few of those doors have been entered so far. It would be a matter of years for one worker to learn all the homes in Amara.

"It has been very simple and easy to have many religious talks. As a whole the women seem eager to talk and be talked or read to. I am finding wonderful traces of the work done by Mrs. Calverley and others who made trips here over eight years ago. One woman came from across the city to call on me after I had been here only a short time. She repeats time and time again all the little incidents of Mrs. Calverley's visit with her. She has kept in her heart these years the fact that Christ is our Redeemer. It has left its impress in her heart and life and today she not only is my staunch friend but is reading the Gospel herself, and her son and she believe in secret. Her almost marvelous grasp of the spiritual things has been of great encouragement to me. The Word of God does not return void. What a promise for the future! Other women have mentioned the visits of the mission ladies and they too have been the more eager to have me come to their homes. The woman mentioned above is the only one so far who can read. The others learn only as they are read to. What a hindrance ignorance is to our work! Here in Amara are large yards containing sometimes as many as six or eight separate establishments. There is a great opportunity for reading to a large group of women as they gather together. What is to one is to all and they all come to listen. And one reaches a number at a time by going to them. They love to hear the short Gospel stories and the Parables. They also love to repeat them in their own everyday dialect. I have not always been able to read but always has there been an opportunity for some religious talking. The women need sympathy and comfort above all things and the words of the Gospel come to them as balm to their spirits. Two women come every week for lessons and I read to them from 'The Sweet Story of Jesus,' a book published by the Nile Mission Press.

"The people come almost every day for some kind of medicine. Eye medicine and a few simple remedies go a long way with them, too. I cannot emphasize too strongly the need of a mission hospital here. The women continually ask for one and why someone does not come out from our country to make one! A hospital would not only fill the big physical need, but it would be a great wedge in entering the hearts and lives of the people and in bringing them under Christian influence. Several women I know need operations. There is no one to send them to in Basra for our hospital there is closed. Kuwait is too far for them to go. It is hard to refuse their calls for help. May God hasten the day when there will be a hospital for the women of Amara!

"Several requests have come to start a school for girls here—a hopeful sign indeed, but at present it must be refused. We only hope it may be fulfilled in the very near future. The mission house here as in the other stations has already become known as a place of refuge. Some have come for just and sincere motives and asked for help. Others have come from evil motives. But it is gratifying that a little boy beaten out of his house should have come here above all places to get help! Two young girls running away from their uncle who wanted to take them with him by force came here crying. They came because they knew of this place as a place of mercy.

"There are adversaries to be sure. Those coming to us will be and are persecuted. For them all we ask your earnest prayers. And for us, that the will of our Father may be worked out to His glory and the coming of the Kingdom among the women of Mesopotamia."

Annual Reports

For the Year ending May, 1921

THE ANNUAL REPORT OF THE CORRESPONDING SECRETARY

At the time of our last Annual Meeting the General Committee of the Interchurch World Movement was in session at Cleveland considering ways and means for continuing the united educational, inspirational and financial campaign which had begun to show serious signs of collapse. The times had been unfavorable to a financial drive; the "friendly citizen" had proved a broken reed; gigantic plans of operation had gotten under way too hurriedly for efficient organization; on the material side the movement was a failure. Soon it became obvious that the Interchurch World Movement, as such, must be discontinued and that the Boards must be called on for their underwritings. Thus the sum of $8,402.64, which we had hoped to draw from the Interchurch coffers, was transferred from our assets to our liabilities. This obligation, added to the debt that was heavy upon us because of the high rate of exchange in 1919, seemed a crushing load to carry into the new year.

Something, however, the "Interchurch" had done for us of which, perhaps, we were scarcely aware. It had given to our Church a clearer and broader view of our wide-world missionary task; it had shown the disproportion between the Church's giving and the Church's resources; it had set the Church thinking in terms of personal stewardship. This stimulation of the missionary consciousness had prepared the way for our own Reformed Church Progress Campaign, now in its second year of activity, with liberal results to the Treasury of our Board. We close the year with all debts cleared, all bills paid, all obligations met and a song of praise in our hearts to Almighty God who has put it into the hearts of His people to offer so willingly after this sort.

The Treasurer reports:

From Cornelis Roosenraad, In Memory of Anna and Margaret Roosenraad, for Evangelistic Work.....	500.00
From Rev. and Mrs. A. B. Churchman, Annuity Fund	500.00

If we take out of the accounting these special gifts and legacies we can still record by far the largest aggregate contribution from regular sources ever received in a single year by our Board.

The Board has lost one member during the year and gained two. Mrs. James D. Keith of Poughkeepsie, New York, withdraws because of the transfer of her membership to another denomination. Mrs. Theodore Bayles of Walden, New York, and Miss Marion J. Benedict of Tarrytown, New York, have been elected to membership.

The roll of Honorary Vice-Presidents has again been broken by death. On February 14th Miss Sarah B. Reynolds of Kingston, New York, for many years a loyal and liberal friend of the Board, entered into the Life Eternal. Lines written by a friend express so well the beauty of her life and character, the calm peace of her passing, that we wish we could quote them in full:

"To pass through life beloved as few are loved,
To prove the joys of earth as few have proved,
And still to keep the soul's white robe unstained,
Such is the victory which thou hast gained.

"In the far North, where, over frosts and gloom,
The midnight skies with rosy brightness bloom,
There comes in all the year one day complete
Wherein the sunset and the sunrise meet.

"So, in the region of thy fearless faith,
No hour of darkness marked the approach of death;
But, ere the evening splendor was withdrawn,
Fair flushed the light along the hills of dawn."

After three and a half years of almost herculean labor in behalf of the Board, Mrs. Frederick A. Baldwin, because of depleted health, has resigned from the presidency. Mrs. Baldwin's announcement at the April meeting of the Directors that she should shortly marry the Rev. Dr. George W. Downs of St. John's Methodist Episcopal Church of Newburgh, New York, caused a flurry of feminine excitement and a deeper consternation that we were to lose her not only from the President's chair but from the Church. As one of the Western Vice-Presidents wrote on hearing the news: "Mrs. Baldwin has been such an efficient and tactful leader, it seems an irreparable loss." In the years in which she has served as President, although she held at the same time other high offices in other organizations, Mrs. Baldwin has always put the Board first in her thinking and her interest. Like Thomas Fuller, she has made the work of the Kingdom her vocation and other employments merely avocations. It was characteristic of her that on the day before her wedding she called on the telephone to ask if anything at the office required her attention. We know that this devotion to the Master's cause will find new opportunities in her new field of service and we wish to both Dr. and Mrs. Downs full measure of happiness and success. While we must not forestall the report of the Committee on Nominations, we would so far anticipate it as to welcome the coming while we speed the parting President.*

Many changes have taken place in our Classical Committees. Some resignations have been perforce accepted; others have been held in abeyance until a clearer understanding is had of what the Board and the churches expect from these Committees. Resignations and appointments are as follows:

Classis	Resigned	Succeeded
Bergen	Mrs. H. B. Jenkins (Absence from home)	Mrs. J. E. Hoffman (Assisting Mrs. Romaine)
Cascades	Mrs. B. Van Heuvelen (Removal from Classis)	Mrs. C. Van der Schoor

The Board Meetings, which were held last year at 25 Madison Avenue, returned this year to the less commodious but more convenient Assembly Room of the Reformed Church Building. We gratefully acknowledge the courtesy of the Progress Campaign Secretaries, who at much inconvenience to themselves, gave up their workroom to the Woman's Board for an entire day each month.

* At the afternoon session of the Annual Meeting, Mrs. De Witt Knox was elected President of the Board.

We have had at the Board Meetings from time to time the following guests: Miss Eleanor MacDougall, President of the Women's Christian College of Madras, India; Dr. A. L. Warnshuis, Secretary of the China Continuation Committee and Acting Secretary of the Board of Foreign Missions during Dr. Chamberlain's absence, and Mrs. Warnshuis; Dr. John A. Ingham, General Secretary of the Reformed Church Progress Campaign; Miss Alice B. Van Doren from Ranipettai, India, and Miss Charlotte Kellien from Maskat, Arabia. Dr. William I. Chamberlain and Dr. Thomas Mackenzie met with us before starting on their tour of the Mission Fields in the spring, and Dr. Chamberlain, upon his return in December, reported to us the response of the various Missions to our greetings conveyed by the Deputation.

At our 46th Birthday in January it was our privilege to hear a more complete story both from Dr. Chamberlain and Dr. Mackenzie of conditions and opportunities observed by them in the Mission Fields. A "Welcome Home" to the travelers, following the addresses, gave the large assembly an opportunity to greet "the Deputation" personally and to examine Dr. Chamberlain's much prized souvenir, the Silver Cross, his presentation of which to the Board through the President had so deeply moved us all.

The reports that come to us from the Classical Missionary Unions encourage us to believe that in most instances the Classical Conferences have reached a high water mark in spiritual power and practical effectiveness. We especially acknowledge the great helpfulness in the fall conferences of Mrs. Samuel Zwemer in the East and of Mrs. Dirk Dykstra and Mr. Frank Eckerson in the West. We take this occasion, too, to thank again Dr. and Mrs. Pieters for their extended tour of the churches in Pleasant Prairie and Dakota Classes.

Vice-Presidents for the Western Synods report as follows:

Mrs. James Wayer, Vice-President for the Synod of Chicago:

The special feature of the work in the Particular Synod of Chicago this year was the endeavor to cover the entire field with some missionary or Board speaker, especially those societies hitherto untouched. This has been in a large measure successful. At the time of the fall conferences Board representatives and missionaries reached several of the Wisconsin churches. Rev. and Mrs. D. Dykstra on a previous visit had touched others, so that Wisconsin was practically covered.

Rev. and Mrs. Albertus Pieters visited the churches of Whiteside County, Illinois, last fall, and all five churches profited greatly through this visit. Since these churches have seldom had missionary speakers there was much enthusiasm manifested. Requests have come for a separate conference in this section next fall.

In Michigan Mrs. Dykstra, Mrs. Pieters and Mrs. Walvoord have done splendid work. The ability of the two former to use the Holland language has been a great asset, since there are still a number of the older societies of the Synod of Chicago using their mother tongue. Mrs. Walvoord delivered addresses in 18 churches in Michigan the past year and Mrs. Pieters in 9. Most of these were in churches not frequently visited. Statistics are not available as to Mrs. Dykstra's meetings since many of the requests did not come through the Vice-President. These missionary speakers deserve the warmest appreciation for their services which have been so gladly given.

The sending out of Miss Holkeboer and Miss Nienhuis proved a great stimulus both to the ladies' and young ladies' societies.

A number of Life Memberships have been taken in this Synod during the year.

Mrs. H. W. Pietenpol, Vice-President for the Synod of Iowa:

The work of the ladies' organizations has been progressing very nicely. From the reports of the Classical Committees I glean that the work has not retrogressed, which is very hopeful considering the present financial stress. Our churches in the far West seem to feel the need of more attention from the Board to arouse further missionary interest. The suggestion has been made that it might be an excellent thing to have more of the returned missionaries visit these outlying churches.

It seems rather difficult for the various Classical Committees to get at the real situation in their districts, since the secretaries of the societies do not report to them. Perhaps an announcement in our Church papers informing the societies as to the necessity of reporting to Classical Committees might be helpful.

Both of these suggestions have our hearty endorsement.

Mr. and Mrs. Ryder, Mr. and Mrs. Voskuil, Mr. Eckerson, Miss Van Doren, Miss Kellien, Mrs. W. T. Scudder, the Misses Jackson and ten members of the Board have carried the Eastern conferences and 135 speaking engagements for the women's societies of the Eastern Synods. We assure all these good friends of the sincere appreciation not only of the Board but also of the organizations visited and wish for them that high satisfaction expressed by the Psalmist when he wrote, "My heart overfloweth with a goodly matter. I speak; my work is for a King."

The reports from the Auxiliaries have been illuminating both in what they have said and in what they have left unsaid. A number of societies—fewer than usual, we think—have not reported at all, forcing us in some instances to cross from our list Secretaries so long silent that we assume they have been succeeded by others whose names have not been forwarded. We earnestly solicit the help of pastors, presidents and Classical Committees to fill these gaps as rapidly as possible in order that the channels of communication between the Board and the women of the churches may be kept open.

Seven new societies have been reported:

Hastings, N. Y.

Sunnyside, L. I.

Second Syracuse, N. Y.

Little Rock, Iowa.

Detroit, Mich. W. M. G.

Fifth Muskegon, Mich.

Lester, Iowa.

Most of the churches still lacking women's organizations are either without a pastor or in scattered communities where it is impossible for the women to get together. In contrast to the small increase in women's organizations is the growth of Young Women's Societies, of which the Field Secretary for Young Women reports today 35 new organizations. No wonder that the Young Women of the Church demolish the budget given them each year by the Board and cry for more! All honor to the valiant workers both in the Committees, East and West, and in the local churches that have brought these things to pass.

Interesting meetings and increased membership are very generally reported. Where the report is otherwise it is usually accompanied by the statement, "No special program"—a sufficient explanation. To such societies we recommend for the coming year the use of the "Program Suggestions" which will be issued in mid-summer.

Two forward steps recommended to the societies that have not already progressed so far are the appointment of a Baby Roll Secretary to enroll all the children of the Church under five years of age in the support of our Children's Homes in China and India, and the honoring of some member or friend of the Society with a life membership in the Woman's Board of Foreign Missions. The life membership plans, of which a hint was given in the report a year ago, are now under way. All Life Members are to be appointed as "Praying mates" to Missionaries in the field. Thus the life memberships will not only help in the financial support of our Girls' Boarding School in Amoy, to which all the life membership fees are to be applied this year, but will provide a body of intercessors, whose prayers will avail much for the strengthening of the Missionaries and the success of their work. Mrs. Stillwell, Chairman of the Life Membership Committee reports 509 Life Members now on the roll, and the Treasurer reports $1,500 received for this fund during the year. A suggestion from one of the Western churches has led also to the establishment of a Memorial Membership fund, whereby a gift of $50 or more made for Women's Medical Work in China will enable an individual or a society to place on the Memorial roll the name of some loved friend who has passed from service here to service in Heaven.

"Send us more speakers—more literature" is the frequent answer to our question, "What can we do to strengthen the missionary interest of your Society?" We have tried to refuse no call for a speaker that has reached the office in time to make the necessary arrangements. The exceptions have been when four or five societies chanced upon the same day for their demand or where the distance was too great to warrant the expense of travel for one engagement. We shall try in the new year to arrange for these more distant societies in group itineraries. Literature is sent without stint and without charge to all who apply, but only those who pay the annual "dollar subscription" fee can be assured of receiving new literature when published. We have no other mailing list. This dollar subscription is not a source of income to the Board; it merely secures to the subscriber the text-book for the year and its accessories, the current Year Book, and all the publications of the Board, bringing something new from time to time in the way of information or inspiration. Some complaints were made in the reports because the Mission Field was not received with regularity. It is but fair to remind the subscribers that the mailing of the Mission Field is not regulated by the Woman's Board and that complaints and queries regarding it should be addressed to the Mission Field office.

The Editorial and Educational Secretary reports as follows:

The Progress Campaign in China, India, Japan and Arabia has been given month by month through the letters of our missionaries in the "Mission Field." We know their problems, perplexities, encouragements and needs. We that have ears to hear should heed these messages to the churches.

We participated in the twenty-first birthday of the Central Committee on the United Study of Foreign Missions and realized in part what it has meant to have over two million text-books "studied by prayerful groups of women." It is gratifying to know that more than 140,000 copies of "The Bible and Missions" have been sold. Of this number 630 copies are in the hands of our women, and 125 copies of the Junior book, "Lamplighters Across the Sea."

The Publication Committee has issued the following leaflets:

- "The Bible Woman of Japan."
- "Through Paper Doors."
- "The Gospel on Wheels."
- "Then God Took a Man and—."
- "The Story the Match Box Told."
- "Planting."
- "How Sooboo Ammal Found the Way Home."
- "The Man With the Wonderful Books."
- "Wonderful Words of Life."
- "Program Suggestions."
- "Children's Home at Amoy."
- "A Call at Sturges Seminary."
- "Why Girls' Schools in China."
- "John Zechariah on the Road to Learning."
- "Unwelcome."
- "Keerubai's Doll."

Owing to the demand for a number of our leaflets by other Boards it was necessary to have reprinted: "From My Upper Windows," "The Gospel on Wheels," "The Bible Woman of Japan," and "The Tea Kettle's Message." Realizing that the need still exists for reading material in the Holland language, Rev. Mr. Van Kersen has kindly translated and printed: "De Man met de Wondervolle Boeken," "Het Evangelie Op Wielen" and "Door Papieren Deuren." As in previous years we are planning a series to be used in connection with the next text-book, "The Kingdom and the Nations."

In our affiliation with the Christian Literature Committee we report the increasing demand for books in the simplified Phonetic System in China and the insistent call from Japan and India for more funds wherewith to supply the proper reading material.

Not a small part of the educational work has been the dissemination of missionary information at Conferences and missionary meetings. The rehearsal of what the Lord is doing in the regions beyond has been received with sympathetic interest. It is good to be among the "Host of women who publish the glad tidings."

The Board has maintained through the same representatives as last year its relations to various interdenominational committees: the Northfield Committee, the Committee on the United Study of Missions, the Interdenominational Committee on Christian Literature, the Federation of Women's Foreign Missionary Societies, the Joint Committee on Union Colleges in the Orient and various sub-committees of the Committee of Reference and Counsel. This year we shall have representation also on the Territorial Committee for the Mission Study Conference at Silver Bay. Mrs. Wayer was appointed to the Young Women's Student Conference at Lake Geneva, and Miss Davis to the Student Conference at Silver Bay and the Summer School at Northfield, and Miss Westveer to the Missionary Education Conference of Winona. Mrs. Scudder was Leader of Camp Eendracht at Northfield with Miss Katharine Olcott as her associate and Miss Clarke was sent from Room 10 to have oversight of the literature display. Delegates attended the Foreign Missions Conference at Garden City. The women of the Church have participated in a number of interdenominational events: the Twenty-first Birthday of the United Study Committee, at which we were privileged to meet the writers of the twenty-one text-books and to partake of the birthday cake with its twenty-one lighted tapers; the International Christmas Gift for the Women's Union Colleges of the Orient, which at latest reports had reached a sum total of $500,000, to be augmented from the Laura Spelman Rockefeller fund; the Day of Prayer appointed by the Foreign Missions Federation and the Home Missions Council, which was widely observed throughout the country.

The comparative freedom from interdenominational conferences, due in part to the cessation of interchurch activities, has made possible a greater concentration upon our own specific task. A series of Progress Campaign Conferences held during the spring has presented to the churches in the regions of Albany, Utica, Rochester, Kingston and Neshanic the whole task of our Reformed Church, Miss Lawrence ably representing the work of the Woman's Board of Foreign Missions.

The Foreign Secretaries for India, China, Japan and Arabia have presented full reports of their respective fields. (pp. 9-47.)

With deep gratification we record that certain crying needs of the Missions have been met: First, that the salaries of the missionaries in Japan, India and Arabia have been increased to a living standard and bonuses granted to some of our missionaries to cover personal losses during the war years; second, that the following payments have been sent to the field:

For the Hindu Girls' Schools and Social Centers in India..	$8,710.00
For the Kindergarten and extension on the Girls' School, Chiang-chiu	5,385.00
For Ferris Seminary Calisthenium, including the Emily Stelle Booth Memorial	5,369.00
For gift to Ferris Seminary	12,134.00
For extra room and repairs on M. L. L. H. Bungalow.....	1,900.00
For Shanghai Union Medical School for Women.....	1,000.00

Surely this announcement will make glad the hearts of the donors, even as the receipt of the gifts revives the spirit of the missionaries in charge of these institutions.

But richer far than gifts of money are the gifts of lives, without which our money could avail nothing. The most precious gifts to the Missions this year are the young women who have joined the missionary forces: Miss Jean Nienhuis and Miss Tena Holkeboer in China and Miss Alice Smallegan in India. God has honored our prayer for reapers, too, in sending us three young women for service in Arabia, two for Japan and one for a field as yet undesignated. They will proceed to the field, we trust, before another year. It is the ardent desire of the Board that all Missionaries shall be maintained by personal support, either by individuals or by societies, churches or Classes, not as a mere commercial means of securing their salaries but to establish a close personal relation between the Missionaries and the home-folk. Six of our workers have been adopted as "Own Missionaries" this year: Miss Van Pelt, Miss Nienhuis, Miss Holkeboer, Miss Ruth Scudder, Mrs. Thoms and Miss Smallegan. There are still others who may be had for the asking.

The usual spring and fall migrations have brought some Missionaries home on furlough and returned others to the field. Miss Kellien and Miss Van Doren have come home for rest and study and for the enlargement of their acquaintance with the churches. Miss Lutton is on vacation at her home in Australia. Mrs. Honegger, Miss Kuyper and Miss Hospers have been gladly welcomed back to their adopted homes, Mrs. Honegger and Miss Hospers to continue their former work in Ranipet and Saga, respectively, Miss Kuyper to exchange her educational work at Ferris Seminary for evangelistic work in Kagoshima.

Mrs. Beattie's resignation from the Arcot Mission, foreshadowed in last year's report, has become a fact and she has returned to her home in Scotland, followed by the tearful regret of pupils and friends. Congratulations have been sent by the Board to Mrs. John Scudder upon the 60th Anniversary of her sailing from America for her life-long service in India. Wedding bells have chimed again in Arabia as Miss Schafheitlin became the bride of Rev. G. J. Pennings. We have had cause to thank God with deep emotion for Miss Van Der Linden's recovery from a long and stubborn illness and for Miss Noordhoff's escape from the burning Auditorium at the Tokyo Sunday School Convention.

To the Japan Mission the summoning angel came swiftly and suddenly on October 17, calling away without warning Mrs. Martin N. Wyckoff, for 40 years a member of this Mission. Mrs. Wyckoff had celebrated her 70th birthday very happily on the last day of the Mission Meeting in May, when she was presented with a "bouquet of 70 posies" with an appropriate speech by Dr. Chamberlain. She attended the Sunday School Convention at Tokyo, of which she wrote in her last contribution to the "Family Letter" of the Mission just four days before her death:

"These are busy days here in Tokyo during the World's Sunday School Convention for us older people. I have my house full and enjoy it, and what is more lovely than having your friends about you? It has been a great feast of meeting old friends—both Japanese and foreign friends. They seem so glad to see one. What a privilege has been ours to be able to help so many on the right way. It is a great joy to meet them and see how they have appreciated the little we have done for them. Our prayer is that the children's parents will understand and the children will be allowed to come to Sunday School and be taught the right way. May God bless all that is being done in His name."

So has one more faithful servant entered into the joy of her Lord.

The Fiftieth Anniversary celebrations of Ferris Seminary at Yokohama, Japan, and Developing Character School at Amoy, China, have been recorded in the Mission Field and the Intelligencer and have their due place of prominence in the reports of the Foreign Secretaries for Japan and China. The limitations of this report permit only an expression of pride in the achievements of these two prosperous institutions, of congratulation to those whose unwearying devotion has made these achievements possible, and of our pledge to them and to their successors that we shall ever guard these institutions as a precious heritage and a sacred trust.

In this survey of the year's work, so eloquent of God's faithfulness, we find firm ground for steadfast, forward-looking faith. Our one ambition, our earnest hope, for the year before us is that it be a year of the unhindered working of the Spirit of God in and through the living Church. Our prayer is: "Father, glorify thy name"; His answer, "I have glorified it, and will glorify it again."

ELIZA P. COBB,
Corresponding Secretary.

REPORT OF YOUNG WOMEN'S FOREIGN COMMITTEE

Since our last Annual Report the first happenings of general interest were Camp Eendracht and the new budget. Two of our members, Miss Pearl Green and Miss Marion Benedict, were present in Camp Eendracht and Mrs. Scudder was assisted by Miss Olcott in the work of the Camp. The presence of Miss Hospers, through the kindness of the Board, meant much to the girls, who had opportunity to learn to know and to love her. To her, the memory of those days among the hills of God, with so many women of consecrated lives, will remain an inspiration through her entire term of service on the foreign field.

Meanwhile the budget was in the making. Miss Jean Nienhuis and Miss Mary Van Pelt were given to the young women as their special charge and all other obligations were increased to meet new conditions of work. The new budget was presented to the girls of the church through a new edition of our booklet and also in the Mission Field. How well they have responded will be shown in the financial report.

Even before this, Miss Westveer, our Vice-Chairman for the Synod of Chicago, as the representative sent by the Board to Winona Conference, was gaining much inspiration and profit there. Her report was published in the Mission Field and the reflection of her enthusiasm may be found in the large things planned and accomplished in the Synod of Chicago. She reports four group conferences, attendance varying from 75 to 300. At the first of these in September at Holland, Michigan, Miss Nienhuis was present. Their financial report is the "best ever." They were much disappointed that Miss Van Doren's proposed trip could not be carried out, but are looking forward to a visit from Miss Davis in the fall.

At our October meeting we welcomed Miss Dalm of Kalamazoo, who came through the kindness of the Board to represent Miss Westveer. She brought to us help and inspiration and we believe received much in return which has helped her in the work in her section of the Synod of Chicago.

The organization of the Synod of Iowa called for a Vice-Chairman there and Miss Dorothy Wormhoudt of Pella, Iowa, was elected a member of our Committee and assigned to that duty. She is busy organizing the work in that Synod. Their financial report is most encouraging.

Albany Synod has been well cared for by our Vice-Chairman, Miss Pearl Green, who has fostered group conferences, visited Church Leagues and increased interest in every possible way.

Mrs. Henry Scudder is again the Leader of Camp Eendracht. Miss Frances Davis the Business Secretary, and Mrs. Anthony Van Westenburg, our newest member, will assist Mrs. Scudder at Northfield.

We have been happy to have Miss Alice Van Doren with us at two of our meetings. She has made the needs of our school at Ranipet very real to us, and her new leaflet, just off the press, "When the Lotus Blooms" will surely make the girls of the church love their little brown sisters over there.

The leaflet "College Women Around the World" was prepared by Miss Ruth Hawley as the yearly message to college girls. She has also had charge of the Periodical Exchange and, in the Mission Field, has called the attention of our women to that opportunity to help our missionaries.

There has been a determined effort to obtain Classical Representatives to act for the united Committee. Several have been appointed and we hope will prove efficient. These representatives are always welcome as guests at our meetings, which this year have been held on the Saturdays before Board meetings.

Other work in connection with the united Committee by our girls has been the compiling of a song book for use in group conferences and League meetings, speaking before such gatherings, preparation of programs for use in meetings of leagues and societies and the writing and editing of articles for our department in the Mission Field. We include in our work what we call General Christian Service, believing that by emphasizing the oneness of the work in establishing the Kingdom everywhere, lives may be won to the trinity of purpose—a Christian community, nation and world.

It was a pleasure to have some of the girls from the Domestic Committee assist us at the Birthday celebration of our Board and we were glad to help them at the Anniversary of the Domestic Board. We have appreciated the invitation from our own Board to be present at the commission service for the new missionaries last month and from the Domestic Board to the afternoon session of their Semi-Annual Meeting.

As usual the Field Secretary for Young Women has aided and abetted us in all our work and we frankly confess we could not give as good a report if she had not helped us in practically every undertaking.

REPORT OF FIELD SECRETARY FOR YOUNG WOMEN AND STUDENT WORK

Reflection upon the Young Women's Work for 1920-1921 results in the recollection of a recently noted remark: "Get off your own beaten track! You won't get so lost that you can't get back and you will find charming surprises." The truth of this statement has been tested, perhaps not wholly during 1920-1921, but gradually during the past six years in which there has been a Field Secretary for the young women, and the three years since the young women of the Domestic Missions Committee and the Foreign Missions Committee have been working together under the Young Women's Committee of the Women's Boards.

The changing day in which we are living, new conditions, the elimination of the unnecessary and unfit, and an awakened consciousness of others and their right of expression and development—spiritual, mental, physical—have all had an effect upon Reformed Church young women even though it may not yet be fully realized. But the young women have ventured afield, just a step at a time to be sure, and yet with unexpected results, for points of contact have opened with sometimes "charming surprises." Work established earlier is progressing, new work is growing, while the future holds promise of development, steady if not actually rapid. The young women through the Committee are learning that

"New occasions teach new duties; Time makes ancient good uncouth;
They must upward still, and onward, who would keep abreast of Truth;

Lo, before us gleam her camp-fires! we ourselves must Pilgrims be,
Launch our Mayflower, and steer boldly through the desperate winter sea,

Nor attempt the Future's portal with the Past's bloodruined key".

With this ideal we think of the year's work in two parts. The effort to "get off the beaten track" of which the daily office routine may sometimes be an adverse example, includes plans started and yet too incomplete for assured results, and aspirations for more vital contacts, broader vision, more efficient organization, deeper sense of responsibility in the actual execution of the Young Women's Work on the part of Committee members and leaders as well as the Church's constituency. These things and more are involved in the present as well as the future outlook of the young women, while the experiences of the year just past may be termed the "charming surprises." And how shall they be told!

The work of the Young Women's Committee has been reviewed by itself but no word from the Field Secretary would be complete without mention of the sympathetic co-operation and loyalty of the members of the Committee to the Secretary and her work. In the monthly meetings and the intercourse with the young women leaders in the Particular Synods of Chicago and Iowa as well as the other officers and members of the Young Women's Committee this fact has always been evident. I am sure the feeling of growth together is mutual and it is with gratitude and appreciation that the Field Secretary thinks of this relationship just now. The same spirit of interest and helpfulness has applied to the Joint Advisory Committee with which the Field Secretary has met monthly and planned for the Young Women's Work. Thanks is due to each member as they have given time and thought to this work.

The goings and comings of the Field Secretary have been confined to the Particular Synods of Albany, New York, and New Brunswick this year. Many times these visits to the churches have followed the Progress Campaign, through which inspiration has been given to organize the young women and girls. On this account the speaking engagements have meant organization work and the meetings have had immediate results. With the close of 1920-1921 the number of different churches of the denomination in which the Field Secretary has had at least one engagement totals 290. These include all the classes except the three most Western. This fact is noted to show that the Young Women's Work has been fairly generally presented to the Reformed Church and that the future offers, therefore, the opportunity for concentration upon a definite policy of action.

The number of new young women's organizations this year totals 35, of which 25 have taken the League for Service name and all its program and purpose. This brings the total of actual young women's organizations for the denomination to 335 distributed as follows:

Particular Synod of Chicago.....	88
Particular Synod of New Brunswick.....	80
Particular Synod of New York.....	60
Particular Synod of Iowa.....	55
Particular Synod of Albany.....	52

Had this division by Particular Synods been made sufficiently early, it could have been ascertained exactly how much these societies had contributed to both Domestic and Foreign Missions. It is possible to state however that the contributions of the young women of the Particular Synods of New York and New Brunswick, totaling 140 young women's organizations, are as follows:

For Domestic Missions	$3,636.78
For Foreign Missions	2,226.56

The Particular Synods of Chicago and Iowa with 143 young women's organizations total the following amounts:

For Domestic Missions	$5,215.44
For Foreign Missions	5,467.69

The entire amounts raised by the young women are:

For Domestic Missions	$10,225.71
For Foreign Missions	10,124.25

Or Grand Total$20,349.96

These figures speak for themselves, showing that some young women's organizations need to "get off their own beaten track," and again the "charming surprises" which come from endeavor and co-operation. Indeed this has been felt in the response of the young women of the Western churches to the Young Women's Work. As one of the vice-chairmen reports: "Never before have the societies shown so keen an interest in the work assigned to them."

That the young women might be better informed and their meetings more interesting, programs have been published monthly in the Young Women's Department of the Mission Field, literature printed for the Young Women's Committee bearing on both the young women's Domestic and Foreign Mission work and joint material presenting the work as a whole. In the fall "League Flashlights" was published and sent to every young women's society while the spring has brought "What We Do and Where" (a picture report of the Young Women's Work). The Church League for Service pins appeared in the summer, the initial order being 1,000. Of these 672 have been sold at the price of fifteen cents per dozen with many expressions of appreciation that pins were available. Group conferences for young women have been held during the year, in both the East and the West. In the Particular Synod of Chicago they were in Holland and Kalamazoo, and two in Grand Rapids, Michigan. In the Eastern Particular Synods they were as follows:

- For the Classis of Montgomery at Christ Church, Utica, N. Y.
- For the Classis of Monmouth at Red Bank, N. J.
- For the Classis of Raritan at First Church, Somerville, N. J.
- For the Classis of Newark at North Church, Newark, N. J.
- For the Classis of Bergen at Bogota, N. J.
- For the Classis of Schenectady at Scotia, N. Y.
- For the Classis of New York at St. Nicholas Collegiate Church, New York City.
- For the Classis of Saratoga at Watervliet, N. Y.
- For the Classis of Westchester at First Church, Tarrytown, N. Y., and again in the spring at Park Hill Church, Yonkers, N. Y.

During the summer the Field Secretary represented the Women's Boards at the Eastern Student Conference of the Young Women's Christian Association at Silver Bay, N. Y., and the Northfield Foreign and Home Mission Conferences for Women's Societies at East Northfield, Mass. At the latter, July 16-23, she acted officially as the secretary for Camp Eendracht.

One of the important parts of the work of the Field Secretary is with the students. This has been somewhat emphasized this year by a visit to Smith, Mt. Holyoke, Wellesley Colleges, and Northfield Seminary, where the Reformed Church girls of each of these institutions met together and personal acquaintance and relationship were established. This contact together with that at the Silver Bay Student Conference has given a better understanding of student problems and needs. This understanding has also been furthered by membership on the Student Committee of the Federation of Woman's Boards of Foreign Missions in which the student work of the Women's Boards is carefully and regularly considered. In February the Student Secretaries of the Women's Mission Boards were invited to attend the Staff Conference of the National Student Secretaries of the Young Women's Christian Association. After a week of these sessions full of valuable information and inspiration closer co-operation between the student denominational leaders and the Young Women's Christian Association was evident.

Thus we gather some of the outstanding facts of the year. They must be but the obvious ones, yet the story goes deeper, which is the part impossible to tell. The regular work at the office, the correspondence, interviews, Committee meetings,—all these might be included and still more,—the contact with individuals, the search and training for leadership, as well as those plans which are started and remain unrealized, such as relating Reformed Church girls to Church work as a vocation and other hopes for their development in responsibility, efficiency and vision, if they are to assume the "new duties" to "keep abreast with Truth." And so we come to the year's close in the full consciousness of the word which has been spoken: "The sole benefactors of the world are those who are not quite satisfied." We are not satisfied but if our service has counted even a little in the upbuilding of Christ's Kingdom, we rejoice and pause but long enough to get off our own "beaten track" as we gather together the bits of what have been done and look ahead with our eyes fixed on Him who alone can make us realize our slogan "Leagued for Service," that it is indeed FOR CHRIST AND THE WORLD.

FRANCES DAVIS,
Field Secretary.

REPORT OF THE SEWING GUILD

As the year 1920 marks the twenty-fifth anniversary of the Sewing Guild, perhaps it will not be out of order to take a brief glance backward. In 1895, because of the growing number of pupils in the boarding schools in India, and the consequent problem of supplying them with garments, a suggestion from a missionary was followed by the forming of the Hindu Petticoat Guild. Very soon requests for other articles came from India and also China, so that name was outgrown and changed to Summer Sewing Guild. The work developed rapidly, and after a while, to meet more adequately the convenience of the missionaries and their needs, the specializing on vacation activity ceased and the word Summer was omitted from the name. And now, in its twenty-fifth year, it is a Sewing Guild, plus a receiving, purchasing and distributing agency for a varied assortment of merchandise, so that a card received not long ago announcing a change in the price schedule of dried milk does not appear at all out of place. And the bars have been let down from the barrier, Woman's Board of Foreign Missions, R. C. A., as contributions have come from a Congregationalist Church in Connecticut, a Union Church in New Hampshire, Presbyterian Churches in New Jersey and Indiana, and from the Clara Barton Guilds of the Universalist Church a large box of surgical dressings for the Mary Taber Schell Hospital was sent out through us. But by whatever name it is known, it is hoped that the Sewing Guild will continue, year by year, to meet more and more fully the requirements of the situation on the field.

There are two phases to Sewing Guild efforts—first, to assist the missionaries as they follow the word of the Master, to make disciples of the nations, and second, to create a wide sympathy among the women and girls of the church, and to provide an outlet for it, as they realize that "the place of charity, like God, is everywhere," and that the thousands of miles separating New York or Michigan from the Persian Gulf or Pacific Ocean do not count when help is needed. So it is a pleasure to record an advance in the number of contributors of twenty-two societies, and $53 in money, over the previous year. In this continued increase it is encouraging to note the number of young women's societies. With deep appreciation the Committee acknowledges indebtedness to the Field Secretary for Young Women's Work for bringing this form of service to the attention of those organizations.

Many letters bear witness to enjoyment of the work. We are assured by a new contributor that, "We cannot tell you the pleasure this work has been to us, our days for meeting in the manse all day have been the best we have had all winter." The following paragraphs illustrate the spirit of many societies: "We have packed our box very carefully. The members have labored faithfully and are pleased over the work that has been completed. We hope that the contents will bring comfort and cheer for those for whom it is intended, as it has given us pleasure to send it, with our love and best wishes." It was a fine hospital box, and undoubtedly their hope was fulfilled. Again, "It pleased us very much to send a box to the Woman's Board of Foreign Missions. We are not a large society, and this is our first box. It is our prayer that the Lord will bless our effort. There is so much joy in doing mission work." One friend writes, "The interest is manifested in many ways, especially with the surgical dressings." This is a welcome note, for, though during a part of the year the results of the study of "A Crusade of Compassion" were evident in augmented gifts of hospital supplies and dressings, there has been a decrease lately. During the war American women gave their time and labor unstintingly in service of this sort, and it would be lamentable if the knowledge gained then should not continue to be used for other members of the Lord's family who are helpless and suffering; may there be a revival of interest among these skilled workers as they realize that our hospitals are increasing, and as a larger vision of the service confronting us is brought to their attention. Otherwise the hearty co-operation of so many auxiliaries is gratifying, and the Committee rejoices in the continued allegiance of faithful friends and is cheered by the support of new ones.

In no other calling can one find such an appreciative group as those to whom the boxes are sent. As last year was medical year, it will be interesting to hear first from the hospitals. A letter from a doctor in India reads: "How I wish it were possible for me to tell you of the help your box gives to us all. When we opened it how we did enjoy it—the instruments, gloves, gauze, caps, aprons, absorbent cotton, dolls, everything. At the last operation our catgut was exhausted and I had to complete it with other sutures, which was trying and unsatisfactory, so you can imagine my pleasure when I opened the catgut tubes. Someone wrote of the dolls being ugly, but if you could have heard the 'ohs' and 'ahs' when we took those dolls out you would have been delighted that you sent them. But the gloves! How thankful I was to have them. They were a greater comfort than you can possibly realize, and are used constantly. Our recent operations have been so successful and we have had such splendid healing, partly due to the gloves and to your thoughts, dear friends." The superintendent nurse of one hospital writes: "The Sewing Guild boxes have come, and once again our babes are clothed as becometh Christians, and bare linen shelves are bare no longer! We are truly thankful and our hearts rejoice in the abundance that has again come to us without money and without price. As a hospital we have never before come to so depleted a condition, and it has tried my soul to see beds not properly made, owing to lack of materials, and to see little sick children and newborn babies wrapped only in the rags that the parents could provide for them. Thus you may be able to imagine, somewhat, how my heart sang for joy at the sight of the things which mean so immeasurably much to us. Blessings on dear, old Mother Sewing Guild! She looks well after the needs of her children and we truly love her. Many blessings on the heads of all the dear givers. Another nurse, new to the field, expresses her feelings thus: "I never had any idea what joy a sheet, a flannel baby dress, or some bandages could give, and I do not know who has the greatest joy, we who do up the wounds and care for the patients, or the people who use the sheets and dresses." From Arabia comes this recognition: "My box arrived in perfect condition, and I am so glad over it. It is the best box I ever received, showing great care and tidiness in the way it was packed. Much credit is due the Sewing Guild for the manner in which its duties are executed." The chairman takes this opportunity to join her testimony to that of the doctor. Members of the Committee have become experienced packers, and render invaluable service. This acknowledgment of boxes shipped to China has been received: "A few days ago your boxes reached us, coming right in time for a great rush on the hospital. We thank you for all the articles, the linen, the bandages, soap, pictures, but especially do we appreciate the Red Cross box. It contained just exactly the material we need for our work; I say 'our work' advisedly, for though we shoulder the burden of it, I more and more feel the keen interest you have in our labors, and your willingness to help is a great encouragement to the missionaries."

Supplies were sent as usual to the schools and evangelistic workers, two branches that are often in charge of the same person. They were very welcome, as the following quotations show—the first from far-away Mesopotamia, where the way is still beset with difficulties: "We were fortunate in getting the box, for the boat it was on was wrecked off Linga and only a part of the cargo saved. We were so pleased with it and are most grateful for the nice warm things for the poor. Ever so many little tots will be made warm and comfortable with the little outing flannel dresses, and the large piece gave old widows warm 'dish dashes.' I only wish the Sewing Guild might have the pleasure of seeing the cheer it is giving to some very needy people who would have suffered much from cold this winter without these warm clothes." From a school in China this word comes: "After the Christmas exercises the Sewing Guild presents were distributed to the delighted children, and on their behalf I thank you very much for all the pretty and useful articles. I did not give dolls as presents, as they were few and the children so many. I think that next term I shall give a doll to each girl who stands highest in her class." Is it not a pity that these treasures cannot be given to the children who value them so highly. The same refrain about dolls comes from all fields—so few, and children so numerous. The safety pin is put in every box, and one of its possibilities is here disclosed: "I am taking some of the safety pins with me on my trip up country to give as gifts to those who are particularly nice to me or to the work. You have no idea how decorative a safety pin is considered, and they are light to carry." That pioneer of this department, the petticoat field, is still to be heard from. The head of one school sends the following: "The boxes came in the nick of time, when our cupboards resembled Mother Hubbard's and the children were in rags. The old clothes are not replaced by new until they are beyond repair, but when these boxes came most of them were in that condition, and I wish you could have seen the children after the new ones were given out! They strutted around like peacocks. The outing flannel is a great boon, for we make jackets of it for all to wear at night and on damp days. Thank you for the pieces of separate material, different from the usual run, they will be very nice for Christmas clothes for the orphans. They never have anything to wear but Sewing Guild garments, so for that time I like to give them a little change in material and style. These Christmas clothes become their Sunday costumes for the whole year. The books for the library were very welcome, and were installed, labeled and taken out to be read almost as soon as they arrived. Please pass on our hearty thanks to the ladies of the church. While we were unpacking the girls asked where the boxes came from, and I told them about the Women's Missionary Societies, and the way articles are received in New York and repacked. They were much interested to hear of your voluntary labors and one said: 'Some day we will try to do something like that.' " "I can well understand how much they need the petticoats and jackets in the boarding schools," writes an associate missionary, "and that I cannot expect many such. I am glad that there are a few for me, and thank you for them. If they are large perhaps one will make two small ones, or I can take off the bottoms and make small jackets with the pieces, so ten large skirts will quite likely make fifteen children happy. We do not believe in giving clothing unless it is absolutely necessary, but I cannot bear to see a naked baby brought for baptism, and when the family cannot provide a slip, one from the box is deeply appreciated. Recently one of our poor Helpers asked a loan on his salary of Rs. 13 a month ($4.25), so that he could buy cloth to make petticoats for his two little girls in the village school. The Government Inspectress of Schools was coming for an examination, and the poor man was ashamed to have his little girls appear as they were. I gave him one, and he will pay for the other month by month for eight months. He has a wife and five children and his salary really is not enough to provide them with sufficient food." From another in charge of school work we hear: "What fun we've had opening our boxes! The picture rolls, all beautifully pasted with gummed tape, were unpacked just in time to go with us on a village tour. The plan was to talk about Joseph, and there were several pictures of Joseph's history, all ready for use. As for petticoats, jackets, dolls, words cannot express our gratitude. We have 112 girls now, and they take a monstrous lot of petticoats and jackets. Please circulate a delighted 'Thank you' for all the hidden treasures of the Sewing Guild boxes." Lastly comes appreciation from the baby station of the church: "I doubt whether any Sewing Guild things have been so eagerly accepted as the ones the women and girls of Leng-na received this year. I played Santa Claus, giving baby blankets to the younger women of the church, and wristlets to the older ones, which made them very happy, and to other poor people a blanket or a scarf as needed. We get nearer to the needy folk here—or they get nearer to us—than in Amoy. The schoolgirls received soap and washcloths, and these latter go to church every Sunday, for they make good handkerchiefs as well as washcloths. The doctor was glad to get the bandages and towels, and says he can use any amount next year, as well as baby garments and gauze."

Christmas cheer, even in such small measure, can only reach these people through us. We are indeed an embassy of Christ to that district and to all the others of our mission fields, and whether we send Christmas remembrances, or clothing for shivering children, or supplies for sufferers in hospitals and homes, every bandage, every garment, every trifle or toy given represents His love to them.

"Is thy heart a living power?
Self-entwined, its strength sinks low;
It can only live in loving,
And by serving love will grow.

SARAH A. BUSSING,
Chairman.

REPORT OF THE BABY ROLL

It is a great joy to report that this has been a banner year for the Baby Roll; 928 new names have been received, 105 of whom are from the church of South Holland, Illinois, and over $1,000 has been paid to the Treasurer of the Woman's Board of Foreign Missions, as in many cases the mother has given more than the one dollar required for membership.

An anonymous gift of five dollars was signed "From one who cares," sent in memory of a little life which was taken away after only a few months in the home.

One society used at its Baby Roll meeting the certificates as place cards; this may be a suggestion to others.

There are still many auxiliaries that have not appointed a Baby Roll Committee. Our hope is that every church may have a part in this work, so that all our little ones who know "That sweet story of old," may share their blessings with the thousands and thousands who have never heard that Jesus said: "Let the little ones come unto Me."

CAROLINE RAVEN MACLEAN,
Secretary.

The Forty-seventh Anniversary

On Tuesday, May 17, 1921, a large company of friends met in the Old First Reformed Church in Brooklyn, with the Woman's Board of Foreign Missions, to celebrate its forty-seventh anniversary, to review the work that has been accomplished and to look into the year to come with its boundless opportunities.

Rev. A. DeWitt Mason, D.D., led in the Scripture reading and prayer, and all joyfully gave thanks with him, "for the past year in the history of the organization, for consecrated hearts and the busy lives of the women of the church."

A very warm welcome was extended to the Board and its fellow-workers by Rev. John W. Van Zanten, pastor of the church. Response to the welcome and a greeting to the women of the Reformed Church were given by Mrs. DeWitt Knox, the newly elected President of the Board. The place which Mrs. Knox occupies in the affections of the denomination was evidenced by the spontaneous outburst of applause which greeted the announcement of her election to that office. After thanking the people of the First Church, Mrs. Knox said that the Board did not come to them empty-handed, but brought the best report of its forty-seven years, and a chance to come face to face with God's messengers, to hear and to help them. She asked all to remember the three gifts promised to co-workers with God—the gift of Christ's presence, "Lo, I am with you alway," the gift of the Holy Spirit, and the gift of Power. If every woman will lay hold on these, she will become a magnet, drawing others to the Divine Magnet.

The statement of Miss Katharine Van Nest, the Treasurer, was listened to with keen interest, and everyone rejoiced that the receipts for the year, including legacies and special gifts, were $221,381.93, and that the year had closed with all debts wiped out. In the words of the Treasurer, "These offerings, sacred as memorials and fragrant with the prayers of the givers, we lay at His feet."

After the Corresponding Secretary, Miss Eliza P. Cobb, had read a note of greeting from the Woman's Union Missionary Society, and the names of the officers of the Board for the coming year, she paid brief tributes to Miss S. B. Reynolds, long an Honorary Vice-President, and Mrs. M. N. Wyckoff, for many years a missionary in Japan—"two faithful servants who have entered into the joy of their Lord" during the past year.

Before introducing the missionaries, the President referred to the fact that on June 26th Mrs. John Scudder, that "consecrated Mother of the Arcot Mission," will have served there for sixty years. It was voted to send her a note of love and appreciation.

The anniversary of 1921 was rich in the number of missionaries who were in attendance. Mrs. H. J. Voskuil, Amoy Mission, brought greetings from Old China and Young China, and said that she had been glad to go out, from that very church, thirteen years ago, and the gladness still remains. Mrs. S. W. Ryder, Japan Mission, told of the universal custom of giving gifts in that land, and of the (compulsory) return gifts, which become a great burden. She pictured the women of America carrying the knowledge of the Great Gift, who helps to bear burdens, to the women of Japan. Their return gift will be made to Him, the best they have—themselves. Miss Charlotte Kellien, Arabian Mission, stated their problem—to get the proudest man in the world to accept One whom he hates, through those he despises. Her request was for prayer for a deep heart hunger and a spiritual ingathering among the Arabs.

Miss Alice B. Van Doren, of the Arcot Mission, described three panels, as a three paneled window, of child life in India. First, children of the depressed classes and the hopelessness of their future; second, little caste girls who do not know how to make a choice, having only learned to obey; third, children in the kindergarten at Ranipet, coming from both of these classes, who begin to show initiative, a promise of what may be made of Indian womanhood. But to do it, much more extensive accommodations and a different type of education will be required. Miss Van Doren then presented four pictures of life in the Ranipet school, illustrating development in self-government, discipline, unselfishness, appreciation and character. It rests with the women in America whether these delicate instruments, the children of India, shall be tuned in the major or the minor key.

During the offering, which was for language teachers for the missionaries, Miss Wood sang "The Lord is My Light and My Salvation." Mrs. F. S. Douglas asked a blessing on the gifts.

The closing address of the morning session was by Rev. Frank Eckerson, from Amoy. He suggested that anniversaries are often memorial days as well, and recalled the fact that this is the tenth anniversary of the receipt of the news that Miss Alice Duryee had finished her work and been called home, and spoke of the influence of her selfless Christian life on the Chinese. Word has now come of the opening of the Elizabeth H. Blauvelt Hospital at Tong-an, another memorial. "The life given to God in this work abides forever." As the struggle of Christianity is constantly going on, Mr. Eckerson asked, "Will America rise and send her army of the Lord to take part in it?" He impressed upon his audience, first, that the church is not prepared to conquer unless sufficient recruits are sent out, year by year, to act as replacements for those who fall by the way, so that, having taken an advanced position, it will not be necessary to beat a retreat because of lack of sufficient support; and, second, that the church must pray for recruits, pray for them after they go, and pray for the work to be done.

Mrs. Knox alluded to the fiftieth anniversary of the Board which will come in three years, and set the jubilee goal—double the number of missionaries, double the gifts, quadruple the prayers.

At the adjournment of the first session, the cordial hospitality, so freely offered by the women of the church, was gladly accepted, and the bountiful luncheon greatly enjoyed. Flowers were everywhere, in the chapel as well as in the church auditorium, and added much to the pleasure of the guests.

Stirred by the messages of the morning, all joined earnestly in the first hymn on the afternoon program:

“Ye servants of God, your Master proclaim,
And publish abroad His wonderful name.”

After prayer by Rev. Thomas W. Davidson, of the Church on the Heights, attention was given to Rev. John A. Ingham, D.D., who represented the Progress Campaign, to which the Board is indebted for part of the increase in its receipts. Dr. Ingham congratulated the women on their leader, taking for his text, Esth. 4:14—“Who knoweth whether thou art come to the Kingdom for such a time as this?” He spoke of the comradeship of memory, of faith and joy in a common task, of loyalty to a common Master. If we believe enough in Christianity and our Christ, we will spread that belief.

Miss Mabel B. Littell, Chairman of the Young Women's Committee, had a message for the women, that interest in missions must be developed from childhood, and to the girls, that the field of service is unlimited, here or over there. She mentioned as watch-words, Love more, Do more, Pray more, Give more.

The afternoon offering was consecrated with prayer by Miss O. H. Lawrence, after which Mrs. Walter T. Scudder, M.D., told of the need of support of someone, perhaps a graduate of the Vellore Medical College, to care for the dispensary at Tindivanam, India.

It was with great pleasure that Rev. Lewis R. Scudder, M.D., Dean of the Arcot Mission, was welcomed. Dr. Scudder has been busy in season and out of season for many years, as physician to the bodies and minister to the souls of hundreds in South India. He talked about the evangelistic work, that branch which has always been so poorly manned. But God has wonderfully blessed it. In the last ten years the Christian Church of South India has increased over forty per cent., as a result of the evangelistic work of the members themselves. This growth creates a serious problem for the Mission. There is opportunity to take two or three villages each month if the means were at hand, in men and support. And the educational work should be doubled, for six or seven applicants out of every ten must be turned away. Is the Reformed Church ready to stand back of the Mission in this movement? Praise God for what has been done, but the task is still before us.

After Mrs. P. A. MacLean had read resolutions of thanks to the women of the First Church, to the speakers, the singers, organist, and all who had helped to make the day enjoyable, the benediction was pronounced by Dr. W. I. Chamberlain.

Another milestone has been passed. Those present received a new vision of the Kingdom, of its progress, its needs, and of the King. There will remain in their memories as an inspiration to greater endeavor, the last lines of that poem of Joyce Kilmer's which was quoted by Mr. Eckerson:

"Lord, Thou didst suffer more for me
Than all the hosts of land and sea.
So let me render back again
This millionth of Thy gift. Amen."
